"A stone's throw out on either hand from that well-ordered road we tread, And all the world is wild and strange!"

The suggestion that General Dawes may be trotted out in the Ohio sweepstakes is calculated to make Senator Borah dust off the old typewriter. Nobody's been embarrassed by a questionnaire now for almost a month.

So, then, Mr. Blanton got in an argument with the witness. (To be continued in our next.)

We congratulate the Prince of Wales on his uncanny ability somehow to combine hard luck with a soft turf.

Three bandits hold up two Ward Baking Co. bank messengers and grab the dough.

The reporter who tries to interview Lindbergh always has the misfortune to find him "silent upon a peak in Darien."

Senator Jim Watson defends the constitutionality of the equalization fee of the hoggin bill. It's as sound as a nut!

The job of keynoting at the G. O. P. convention this year appears to be going begging.

The New York primary will be held today and there is a suspicion in some political quarters that Al Smith will pull through.

With Wisconsin going to the polls today nightfall should find Al with a couple of bunches of delegates in his left-hand pocket. We are now entering the period when the press agent takes a back seat and a vote in the hand is worth two in a forecast.

Maybe Al Johnson would be willing to furnish Mr. Healey in advance with the name and address of his Chicago nose renovator.

The abandonment of the idea of holding the next world's championship fight in London was caused by the difficulty of having some of the ring-side seats in France and Holland, thus necessitating the payment of the tax in two more countries.

We see nothing novel in the contest of racing worms arranged by a London scientist. Our bet invariably is put down on one.

They're off at Bowie—pick your caterpillar!

It's understood that the Prince of Wales' favorite is the tumble bug.

Delegates to the National Unemployed Conference demand a per diem government dole of $6, and a five-day week for workers. For those drawing the niggardly pittance of six bucks the ordinary average seven-day week will be worried along with for the present.

Clarence Dunbar is a boy who can play, you bet. Oh, how he blew when he played on his gold cornet.

But where does Almas Temple get the idea that there's anything humanitarian in giving anybody a cornet—has the Imperial Pote no neighbors, or is his abode in the middle of the Sahara desert?

Mr. Dunbar's new cornet knocks the props from under the theory that silence is golden.

Alexandria police raid the town jail and break up a gay drinking party that the host was throwing for his prisoners. It is terrible to contemplate a thing like this—is hospitality in this country to be utterly discouraged and rooted out?

Chicago police raid on the Federal building is checked by a court writ, as the town tries to figure out which gang Uncle Sam is part of.

Move to bar spectators from the two-ring Staples circus is hotly opposed by Mr. Blanton—what's the fun of doing a trapeze act in an empty tent?

"As some day it may happen that a victim must be found, I've got a little list—I've got a little list."

Of social offenders who might well be underground, And who never would be missed, who never would be missed! The D. A. R. gets up a little list of those who never would be missed by the highbrows, and gets a rise out of William Allen White.

As the Democratic hosts of Maine assemble for their State convention at Waterville both of them are inclined to wonder whether they picked a good town in which to elect Al Smith delegates.

Lee Nixon is appointed sergeant at arms at Kansas City and it is rumored that the Democrats are negotiating with Jack Dempsey.

FALL ASSERTS LOAN LETTER WAS URGED BY 3 HIGH IN G. O. P.

Former Cabinet Official, Senator and Former Senator Named.

LENROOT AND SMOOT BOTH ISSUE DENIALS

Urged Him to Give All Facts to Senate Committee, It Is Declared.

EL PASO, Tex., April 2 (A.P.).—Three Republican leaders—a former cabinet member, who is now in Europe, a senator and a former senator—have been named by Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, as having advised him to write the famous McLean letter to the Senate Teapot Dome committee in 1923 in an effort to conceal a loan of $100,000 from Edward Doheny, oil magnate.

Fall, his friends revealed today, declared that the party leaders urged him to cover up the loan from Doheny in the fear that public knowledge of the transaction would result in charges that the Republican administration had favored the oil man in its Mexican oil policy. He said the three men visited him while he was sick in bed in Washington.

Former Senator Irvine Lenroot, of Wisconsin issued a prompt denial in Washington today that either he or Senator Smoot (Republican), Utah, had advised Fall to conceal the Doheny loan. It was put into the record of the Senate oil investigation some time ago that Smoot and Lenroot visited Fall while he was ill just prior to the time the former Interior Secretary wrote the McLean letter.

Lenroot says he urged Facts. Lenroot said that no cabinet officer or former cabinet member was present when he and Smoot talked to Fall. He declared he had insisted that Fall appear before the Senate committee and disclose all the facts as to where he had obtained funds to enlarge his New Mexico ranch holdings. Fall then named Edward B. McLean, the Washington publisher, as the man from whom he had borrowed the $100,000 according to Lenroot.

Fall's story was that he acted at the suggestion of the party leaders when he wrote the Senate committee that the $100,000 came from McLean. He said it was felt that Doheny had just loaned $100,000 to the Mexican government with the consent of the administration might be made the basis for criticism of the administration's Mexican policy if it became known publicly that a cabinet member had received $100,000 from Doheny.

The McLean letter was the only act in the whole oil deal of which he was ashamed, Fall declared.

Received But Did Not Use Checks. Fall related that he had received proffered checks from McLean for the $100,000, but that he had not cashed them, fearing that it would embarrass the publisher financially.

From his files he produced a letter from McLean showing that at one time the latter had considered buying a newspaper.

Secret Service Head Robbed of Clothing

A robber yesterday afternoon entered the apartment of W. H. Moran, chief of the United States Secret Service, and stole jewelry and clothing valued at $200. The robber entered the place with a duplicate key while Mrs. Moran was away. When she returned home in the afternoon she found the apartment ransacked. Two bar pins set with chip diamonds and other stones, valued at $150, were taken, as well as a pistol and several suits of clothing.

The residence of Mike Callegari, 2408 Eighteenth street northwest, was entered and jewelry valued at $275 stolen, he reported to police. The robbery was discovered when he returned home late yesterday afternoon. Two Italian military diamond rings were among the robber's loot.

8 DIE IN MINE BLAST; 267 OTHERS ESCAPE

Bodies of Victims Are Taken From Workings at Keystone, W. Va.

Keystone, W. Va., April 2 (A.P.).—An explosion in the No. 2 mine of the Keystone Coal & Coke Co. today took a toll of eight lives. The bodies of the last victims, six in number, having been found huddled together tonight in the far recesses of the workings. Two bodies had previously been recovered.

R. M. Lambie, chief of the West Virginia mining department, said all of the 275 men in the mine at the time of the blast had been accounted for. He ordered an investigation started tomorrow to determine, if possible, the cause of the explosion, which he termed a "local" one extending possibly 2,000 feet from the point of origin.

The victims of the explosion were Fred Plaster, a company inspector, and E. M. Hall, A. N. Sturdevant, J. W. Cochran, Raymond Poole, Arch Frazier, John Preston and Walter Wade. The last four named were negroes.

Lenroot and Smoot Say They Urged Facts

Both Senator Smoot, of Utah, and former Senator Lenroot, of Wisconsin, denied here yesterday, according to Associated Press stories, that they had urged former Secretary Albert B. Fall to conceal the source of the $100,000 loan obtained from Edward L. Doheny.

Former Senator Lenroot said: "I urged that he tell the committee the whole story," Lenroot said. "Finally he said that he would tell us in confidence, but I told him I did not want matter in confidence; that I wanted him to tell it to the committee. He then said the man was Edward B. McLean, and that he would communicate with Mr. McLean."

Both Smoot and Lenroot declared that no cabinet officer or former cabinet officer was present when they called on Fall.

WOMAN, VICTIM OF AX, NOT EXPECTED TO LIVE

J. C. Brown, Roomer, Is Held, Confessing, Police Say, to Hitting Mrs. Smith.

BLAMES HER COLDNESS

Angered by her coldness, John Cue Brown, 46 years old, of 1417 East Capitol street, the father of ten children yesterday struck Mrs. Bertha B. Smith, 33 years old, of 144 Eleventh street northeast over the head with an ax and went to a luncheon while the woman lay in her room at the Eleventh street address.

Little hope is held for the recovery of Mrs. Smith, who is the mother of four children. She is at Casualty Hospital.

Brown, according to the police, made a complete confession of the crime. He was arrested in a luncheon room near Fourteenth and East Capitol streets. He was taken to the Ninth Precinct station by Capt. J. E. Wilson and Policeman W. B. Satterthwaite.

Mrs. Smith was found on her bed by her mother, Mrs. Kate Knithon, who called an ambulance and summoned the police.

Police headquarters records show that once before on June 6, 1925, Brown was arrested on the charge of assaulting Mrs. Smith. The case was dismissed. He told Capt. Wilson that he had recently moved from Mrs. Smith's home but returned on March 23 and took up quarters in a room on the ground floor of the house adjoining that of the widow.

Yesterday morning he arose and went outside after he said he had become angry with the widow over her refusal to speak to him. After purchasing a package of cigarettes at luncheon at Fourteenth and East Capitol streets, he returned to the house and obtaining an ax from the kitchen of her home, went to Mr. Smith's room and struck her with it. "I only struck her once," he said.

"The cause of me doing this is because I was jealous of this woman and she had been treating me very cold recently," he said.

Woman's Body Found On Roof of Theater

Chicago, April 2 (A.P.).—The body of a well-dressed woman, believed to be Vera Monroe, of Alto, Mich., was found on the roof of the Garrick Theater today. Four stories above the ground, she had jumped or fallen from one of the floors above the roof and apparently had lain unnoticed for more than a week.

A woman's pocketbook, containing the name of "Vera Monroe," was found on the thirteenth floor of the building March 25. The owner was never found and police believe it belonged to the woman. The condition of the body, covered by snow for several days, indicated it had fallen from a great height.

2 MEN ARE INJURED IN QUARRY EXPLOSION

Hands of One Blown Off by Dynamite on Manor Park Property.

The employees of a local construction firm were injured, one seriously, late yesterday afternoon in a dynamite explosion in a stone quarry on property belonging to the Manor Club, at Manor Park, Md.

The injured were brought here to the Emergency Hospital for treatment. They were Peter Sturco, 29 years old, address not given, and Richard McKnight, 23 years old, 1467 Rhode Island avenue northwest, a foreman for the W. L. Morrison Construction Co., with offices in the Metropolitan Bank Building. Both of Sturco's hands were blown off and his face was severely lacerated. McKnight received cuts.

No one witnessed the accident since all the workmen had gone. The two injured men returned to the quarry and in some unexplained manner the dynamite caps exploded. J. W. Geddes, architect, who is designing a house in Manor Park for the Morrison Construction Co., assisted W. R. Pumphrey, of Rockville, Md., in bringing the injured here in an ambulance. It was for this house that the two men were getting stones from the quarry.

PANAMA AIR FORCE WOEFULLY LACKING, DAVISON DECLARES

Assistant Secretary and Gen. Fechet End Long Inspection Flight.

HOLDS LIVES RISKED BY LIBERTY MOTORS

Officials Return Safely After Journey That Covers Seven Latin-American Nations.

This country's air defenses in the Panama Canal Zone were assailed as "woefully inadequate" in a statement issued last night by Assistant Secretary of War F. Truett Davison, following his return here from a three-week inspection flight to Panama, in company with Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet, chief of the Army air service.

Piloted by Capt. Ira C. Baker and Lieut. Muir S. Fairchild, the Assistant Secretary and the Army air chief landed at Bolling Field at 5:15 yesterday afternoon, completing the last leg of their journey from Fort Bragg, N. C., in something less than three hours.

Assistant Secretary Davison was vigorous in his criticism of the Liberty motors used in the two amphibian planes in which the flight was made, and urged that their use in Army craft be discontinued. The Loening amphibian plane, on the other hand, came in for his praise.

Liberty Motors Criticized. "We had continuous trouble with the Liberty motors used in our planes on the trip," he said. "They are too old, too unreliable, too apt to fall at a critical moment. An airplane is no better than its motor, and we have some old 4,000 of these wartime motors left. It is unfair to expect our Army pilots to risk their lives in wearing them out."

Commenting on his inspection tour he declared "immediate steps will be taken to remedy the woefully inadequate air defenses of the Panama Canal Zone."

"I intend to push with all possible speed the Army air expansion provided for in the zone under the five-year Army air development program," he said. "This applies particularly to the construction of Albrook Field on the Pacific side. We plan to establish a complete pursuit group in the zone as soon as possible, and to create an additional observation squadron."

Raid on Federal Building By Chicago Police Halted

U. S. Court Issues Writ of Habeas Corpus for Dry Agent Wanted by City Officials on Charge of Shooting Pro-Thompson Bailiff.

Chicago, April 2 (A.P.).—Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today issued a writ of habeas corpus for Myron Caffey, Federal prohibition agent, for whom a State warrant has been issued in connection with the shooting of a municipal court bailiff last week during a prohibition raid.

The writ was issued while detective squads were massed at the South Clark Street Police Station, four blocks from the Federal Building, awaiting a ruling by the city corporation counsel on whether the police have authority to raid the Federal Building in a search for Caffey, who, they believe, is in hiding there.

Federal officials said the effect of the writ would be to transfer the case to the Federal courts and at the same time prohibit Caffey's arrest on the State charge pending a complaint in the Federal courts against him.

The writ, legally termed a writ of "habeas corpus cum causa," was described as an unusual legal procedure inasmuch as it was issued before the person named in it was taken into custody.

Caffey, in asking for the writ, set forth that William Beatty, the bailiff shot and wounded while Caffey and other agents were raiding a South Side soft drink parlor, had interfered with him by drawing a pistol, and that as a result of the shooting Caffey now is threatened.

Attorneys said the State now may transfer the complaint against Caffey to the Federal courts but that the writ nullifies the warrant for Caffey's arrest in the State courts.

Beatty claimed he was shot when he ran as the prohibition agent entered, believing the place was being held up. The next day he was indicted for interfering with Federal officers and until bond was posted Federal agents guarded him in a hospital, refusing to allow the police to question him.

Major Thompson and his wing of the Republican party here has charged recent prohibition raids have been inspired by the opposing Republican faction headed by United States Senator Deneen.

Mabel Walker Willebrandt, an Assistant United States Attorney General, arrived here today. She immediately went into conference with George E. Q. Johnson, district attorney.

The reason for Mrs. Willebrandt's visit was not disclosed but it is believed to be in relation to the Beatty shooting, or the request of Palmer E. Anderson, United States marshal, for Federal officers during the primary election here.

Mrs. Willebrandt has been in charge of prohibition work for the Department of Justice.

MAIL RATE REDUCTION BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

Postal Charges Restored to 1921 Basis by Grist General Measure.

REVENUE CUT $13,585,000

(Associated Press.) A downward revision of the postal rates calling for a restoration of the 1921 changes was approved yesterday by the House in unanimously passing the Grist bill. The measure now goes to the Senate.

A controversial question for several years, the passage of the measure marked the first House approval of a reduction of postal rates. The measure is the sixth general postal rate revision in the country's history.

The bill would establish a one-cent postcard and would lower rates on second and third class mail matter (including newspapers), zone mailing charges and on parcel post matter. Newspaper publishers, however, when before the committee, argued that the 1921 basis was not sufficient and sought a return to the 1920 rate level.

The postoffice committee, in a report on the bill, estimated that it would cause a loss in revenue to the Postoffice Department of $13,585,000 during fiscal year of 1929. The measure, the committee said, had the support of the Postoffice Department and was designed to stimulate the postal business by equalizing the rates.

A new postal service, two-cent business reply cards and envelopes, would be established by the measure. On advertising portions of newspapers, a reduction would be provided with a low-

4 Royal Air Aviators Killed in Two Crashes

London, April 2 (A.P.).—Fatalities for 1928 in the Royal Air Force were increased to thirteen today when four fliers were killed in two crashes.

A flying officer and an aircraft man were killed in a crash at Colchester, while a similar fate met two officers in the wreck of a bombing plane in Iraq.

In a third Royal Air Force accident today the pilot of a single-seater, flying over Northwold, Essex, descended safely in a parachute, leaping just before his ship crashed.

SLAIN WOMAN FOUND IN CAPE FEAR RIVER

Pittsboro, N. C., April 2 (A.P.).—The body of Mrs. Annie Terry, 45, mother of five children, was found in the Cape Fear River at Avents Ferry today, ending a search of more than a week since her mysterious disappearance.

Mrs. Terry was beaten on the head and face and her body thrown into the river, Dr. Charles L. Scott, of Sanford said today after an examination. The body was taken to Durham. The search for Mrs. Terry near the Avents Ferry Bridge was started some days ago when the finding of a woman's hat and blood on the bridge was reported. Sheriff Blair, of Lee County, refused today to tell newspaper men of his plans.

Al Jolson Has Nose Beautified by Doctor

Chicago, April 2 (A.P.).—Al Jolson has taken his nose to the doctor for beautification. The comedian appeared last night at the theater where he is playing with an improved proboscis provided by a Chicago specialist.

During a sparring match with Jack Dempsey ten years ago, Jolson took too long to dodge. A bruise left a black spot which has now been removed.

LOCHER TO SUCCEED WILLIS AS SENATOR. COLUMBUS REPORTS

Choice of Cleveland Man Expected Soon After Funeral.

DAWES IS BOOMED TO OPPOSE HOOVER

Mention of Coolidge Also Is Heard in Connection With Ohio Primary.

Special to The Washington Post. Columbus, Ohio, April 2.—Cyrus Locher, of Cleveland, director of commerce, seems to have been definitely decided upon for appointment to the United States Senate to succeed the late Senator Frank Willis. Official announcement of the appointment is expected to be made Wednesday or Thursday, following official notification of the death of Senator Willis.

By CARLISLE BARGERSON. The picture of Vice President Dawes in the role of stalking horse for Lowden instead, of the reverse, as it has appeared heretofore, may come out of the muddled Ohio situation caused by the death of Senator Willis. The name of President Coolidge is being heard among the "stop-Hooverites," too, it being argued that inasmuch as he does not object to the use of his name in Chicago by Mayor Thompson, he should interpose no obstacle to its being used in Ohio to stop the Secretary of Commerce.

More weight is given here, however, to the possibility of Dawes' name being advanced to the front by the Willis followers. It is not considered that the Vice President would outwardly take any part in such a movement, but it is not believed that he would do anything to embarrass it, such as making a statement disapproving it or something of the sort.

It is contended by some observers that it would be inconsistent with his avowed support of Lowden to let an Ohio movement in his behalf go unopposed. But the answer to this is that loyalty to his friend means doing anything within reason that will help him to the Presidency, and certainly no better service can be rendered at this time than stopping the Secretary of Commerce.

Debate Who Will Serve Best. So in the preliminary conversations of the Willis people the question is just which name will best serve the cause. The fact that 34 of the Willis delegates named Lowden as their second choice does not necessarily place him as the majority first choice now. It is pointed out, Lowden, Curtis and Watson sent a sheet of second choice authorizations out to the Willis managers when they were getting up their delegate slate and let the Willis managers use their discretion as to how they should be paroled out. In some cases Lowden authorizations, that is, authorizations for the use of his name, were given to delegates whom it was thought Lowden's name might help. In other cases, however, the delegates were just handed the Lowden authorizations as a matter of form.

Now that the situation has changed observers here incline to think that Dawes' name will be more good than any other, except, perhaps, in a few instances in some rural communities where Lowden's name might be the best vote getter.

For this reason it is believed that Dawes' name will come prominently out of the conference of Willis managers to be held at Columbus tomorrow and if it does it is not believed that he will let the Hooverites "smoke him out" with CONTINUED ON PAGE 4, COLUMN 4

U. S. VETERAN KILLS SELF BY GRAVES OF COMRADES

Had Been Wandering Through Belleau Wood, Sobbing for Buddies.

HAD $400 IN POCKETS

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Paris, April 2.—Beside the bowdler which tops the hillsides of the American military cemetery at Belleau Wood and marks the final resting places of members of the Second Division who were killed in the battles of the Marne, the body of Ernest Schricker, an A. E. F. veteran from Clayton, Wis., was found this morning.

He had fired a bullet through his temple some time during the night. Schricker was not broke, because $400 was found in his pockets. Cemetery attendants said he had been wandering about the graves of former buddies of the Second Division for the last several days, sobbing lightly. When asked if he had a brother or relative there, he answered, "No; just buddies."

Then for days past he spent his time tramping in Belleau Wood and along the banks of the Marne. He acted so strangely the natives thought he was a shell-shocked veteran who believed he was back in 1918. So they invited him to their homes and quieted his nerves with cognac.

"The poor Yank thinks the war is still on," neighbors said, but they liked him. Schricker formerly was a Swiss, who became a naturalized American citizen. He was at Camp Lewis, near Tacoma, Wash., when discharged from the Engineers Corps.

The American graves registration organization, which is under Gen. John J. Pershing, will bury Schricker beside his buddies in Belleau Wood.

PLANE CHAMPIONS FLY THEIR MODELS BEFORE PRESIDENT

Boys Brought to City by The Washington Post Also Meet Hoover and MacCracken.

NATIONAL PRESS CLUB SCENE OF LUNCHEON

Bolling Field Visited and They Are Taken Up in Air on Tri-motored Ford.

Model airplane history was made in Washington yesterday when three champions and one former champion displayed the flying ability of their little models before President Coolidge at the White House. The four boys were Aram Abgarian, indoor endurance champion; Jack Loughner, outdoor champion; Charles Dyvig, national indoor champion; and William Chaffee, former holder of the indoor record.

The boys were brought to Washington by Merrill Hamburg, secretary of the Airplane Model League of America, at the instance of The Washington Post, and were accompanied by George F. Pierot, managing editor of the American Boy Magazine; Elmer C. Grierson, secretary-treasurer of the same magazine; and Fred L. Black, of the Ford Motor Co., who acted as personal representative of Edsel Ford in placing the plane in which the boys arrived at the service of the group.

The party was escorted to the White House and presented to President Coolidge by Representative Clancy and Mr. McCord, of Michigan. Assistant Secretary of Commerce William P. MacCracken, Jr., also accompanied the party. President Coolidge was much impressed with the flying ability of the boys and the ingenuity displayed in their construction. He watched the flight with unusual interest and listened closely to Mr. Hamburg, who explained the principles of construction and flight of the models.

Casualties at White House. The White House trip was not without its casualties. Aram Abgarian, who declares that he is "the unluckiest boy in America," lost his two best "stunters," R. O. G. planes. They were caught in trees and could not be rescued. Two other planes also were lost. The boys were the losers philosophically, obtained new ones from The Washington Post and planned to build additional ones.

Following the trip to the White House, the party went to the Department of Commerce, where they demonstrated their remaining planes for Secretary Hoover and Assistant Secretary MacCracken. Earlier in the day they had gone to Bolling Field, where they gave an outdoor demonstration to Assistant Secretary MacCracken.

While at Bolling Field, through the courtesy of Mr. Black, several parties were taken up for a ride in the tri-motored Ford plane in which the party had reached Washington, and they were taken to Bolling Field, where they were taken up for a ride in the tri-motored Ford plane in which the party had reached Washington.

Guests at Post Luncheon. All the visitors were guests of The Washington Post at luncheon at the National Press Club, after which the boys went to Bolling Field to pose for a picture. From there they came back by way of the Columbia Theater, where they inspected the decorations of model planes made by boys using Washington Post kits, then going directly to the disposal of The Post for a mass meeting of boys through the courtesy of John B. Black.

At the Arcadia meeting Mr. Hamburg made a short talk, stressing the importance of the local contest being conducted by the D. C. Miniature Aircraft Tournament committee. He said that while it was the proper thing to work for a chance to represent the city at the big national contest to be held at Detroit in June under the auspices of the American Boy Magazine and allied newspapers, or at the Atlantic City national contest to be conducted by the Recreation and Playgrounds Association of America, still the big thing to do was the personal satisfaction of developing one's own ability by constructing a plane that will fly.

He reiterated that it is not too late for a boy to qualify for the Detroit or

FORLORN BOYS, 5 AND 7, WIFE SUE FOR DIVORCE AWAIT MOTHER IN VAIN BY COMDR. R. T. DARROW

Harry and Clarence Left Behind When Mrs. Florence Brewer Disappears.

Navy Officer Names Congressional Committee Clerk as Correspondent.

TOOK BABY OF 2 WITH HER SAYS SHE NAGGED HIM

Woefully gazing from behind the barred windows of the House of Detention, Harry and Clarence Brewer, age 5 and 7 years, respectively, are pondering in their youthful minds over what because of their mother, when, after tucking them in bed in a rooming house at 1923 G street, northwest, Saturday night, she packed a few clothes in a small suitcase and took their baby brother and disappeared. Florence Brewer has not been seen since.

With her children, Mrs. Brewer arrived here Saturday from Winston-Salem, N. C., and went to the home of a friend on F street. She was directed to the house of Mrs. Henrietta O'Shea, proprietor of a rooming house at the G street address, and it was here that she rented a small room. Mrs. O'Shea yesterday told a Post reporter that her roomer appeared very much excited and upset at the time.

About 8 o'clock Saturday night, after tucking her two older children in their bed, the woman quietly left the house, Mrs. O'Shea said. Her absence was not noticed until the next morning, however, when the boys appealed to Mrs. O'Shea to find their mother for them.

Communication with the woman's friend failed to disclose her whereabouts, and the children, after being cared for at the friend's home for a day, were transferred to the House of Detention, where their wants are administered by policemen who are also conducting an investigation of Mrs. Brewer's disappearance. She is described as about 25 years old, wearing a brown coat with a fur collar to match.

Atlantic City meetings, pointing out that all the champions in his party, who will defend their titles this year, worked but a comparatively short time to acquire the skill necessary to build winning models.

The visitors saw their remaining planes for the benefit of the large crowd of boys present, and some of the members of the Capital Model Aero Club also exhibited the skill of their planes.

Following this exhibition, the boys were taken to the Smithsonian Institution as the guests of Paul Edward Garber, curator of aeronautics there, and were shown the airship display of the institution.

The boys attended a theater party at the Fox Theater last night and left this morning at 1:25 o'clock for New York.

Commander Robert T. Darrow, U. S. N., formerly in charge of mine, net and depth section of the Bureau of Ordnance of the Navy Department, who now is on duty at sea on the battleship Utah, whose wife, Mrs. Virginia Darrow, of 2807 Connecticut avenue, northwest, once unsuccessfully prosecuted a bill for maintenance against him, filed a cross bill against her yesterday in the equity division of the District of Columbia Supreme Court in which Paul A. Malone, said to be a clerk employed by the foreign relations committee of the House of Representatives, is named correspondent.

The cross bill, presented for the commander by Attorneys Lambert, Yeaman & Confield, is attached to an answer filed in reply to an amended bill which the court allowed Mrs. Darrow to file after she failed in the maintenance suit.

In his answer Commander Darrow denies his wife's charges of neglect, desertion, drunkenness and cruelty. He admits that he has taken a drink, but says his wife also has taken a drink. He also denies the charge that he has neglected his wife and children.

Last June, Commander Darrow says, after the court had heard Mrs. Darrow's maintenance suit, he learned that she was showering her attentions and affection upon Malone. The present home of Mrs. Darrow and a committee room of the Capitol are cited as places where Mrs. Darrow has been unfaithful to her husband, according to the cross bill. When Mrs. Darrow amended her bill she asked for a limited divorce, which still is pending.

Commander Darrow, who is an expert on high explosives, has become partly deaf and his nervous system is somewhat shattered as a result of close attention and experimentation with depth charges.

SIGHTSEEING BUS MEN DENY CHARGE
Say They Are Not Paying Large Sums for Waiting Space at Hotels.

Michael J. Lane, attorney for the White Line Sightseeing Bus Co., appeared before the Gibson subcommittee last night and denied that sightseeing companies were paying large sums for space outside of local hotels. The sightseeing companies, he said, simply paid the hotels for waiting room space and a commission for tickets sold.

Representatives of the Bureau of Efficiency appeared before the subcommittee and told of the recommendations that had been made for solving the taxi cab problem here. Representative Gibson (Republican) of Vermont, chairman of the subcommittee, announced that he was going to call upon the District Commissioners to explain why these recommendations have not been adopted.

Inspector E. W. Brown, of the Traffic Bureau, and Jack Inspector Joe Harrington appeared before the subcommittee and agreed, in principle, with the recommendations of the Bureau of Efficiency. The Bureau of Efficiency representatives praised Inspector Harrington for his work here.

Weary Wandering Willies Find Few 'Flops' in Capital

Wayworn Walking Delegates to Convention of Millionaire Hobo J. Eads Howe Complain That Washington Is Inhospitable—Seeks Federal Laws.

Washington is one of the "toughest" towns in the country for a hobo to find a place to flop. This is the unanimous opinion of the "walking delegates" to the joint convention of the National Unemployed Conference and the International Brotherhood of Welfare Association, which will adjourn a three-day session at the Typographical Union Building today.

A place to "flop," the walking delegates explained, is where a weary "Bo" (hobo) lays down to rest. There have been more hobo in Washington during the two days the convention has been in session than in any other time since Gen. Cosey led his famous army here. Dr. J. Eads Howe, Harvard graduate and "millionaire hobo," declared that there is a very fine but clear distinction between a hobo and a tramp, and an even finer distinction between a hobo and a bum. Dr. Howe revealed that he is an unemployed person who takes to the road in search of a hobo and a bum. He has been a hobo for years and has tried to pass a national old-age pension and unemployment insurance bill, along migrants full American balloting rights, make provisions for public works at the regular union scale of wages, establish six-hour working day for all workers and establish free Federal employment bureaus in all cities.

More than 200 hoboes have flocked to Washington to attend the convention. Virtually all of them came riding the rods on freight trains. Two women hoboes are attending the convention. They are Miss Sylvia Diner, of New York, and Miss Victor Brady, of Illinois. How said that the delegates complained that the missions here are too strict about forcing the hoboes to attend religious services before allowing them to "flop."

TRUCK FALL VICTIM INQUEST SET TODAY
Coroner to Investigate Death of Man at Street Intersection Mishap.

A coroner's inquest will be held at the Morgue at 11:30 this morning into the death of Harry Skidmore, 35 years old, of 1805 Railroad avenue southeast, who was killed instantly yesterday when he fell from a truck of the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks at First street and Maryland avenue northeast.

William Minor, colored, of 414 Second street southeast, driver of the truck, was taken into custody after the accident, but was released when he promised to attend the inquest this morning.

Skidmore lost his balance when the truck made a sharp turn at the intersection. He was thrown to the ground and when Dr. Lawrence Murphy, of Casualty, who had been summoned, arrived, he pronounced him dead. Skidmore was a native of Washington, D. C., and was married. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lola May Skidmore, two children, Calvin Coolidge Skidmore and Emma May Skidmore, and his mother, Mrs. Emma Skidmore.

FOUR FACE DEATH PENALTY BY ACTION OF APPEALS COURT

Three Awaiting Execution in Murder of Policeman Busch Refused New Trial.

INSANITY PLEA FAILS FOR PHILIP JACKSON

Man Convicted of Attack on Woman May Be First to Be Electrocuted.

The Court of Appeals yesterday refused to act to save four men under sentence of death. Nicholas Lee Eagles, 32; Samuel Moreno, 20, and John Proctor, 30, who are scheduled to die in the electric chair on May 25 for the murder of Policeman Leo W. K. Busch, were denied new trials. It is hardly likely that they will be executed on that date as their attorneys will ask the court to stay its mandate for 30 days in order that the Supreme Court of the United States may be asked to review the cases.

Policeman Busch was shot to death September 26, 1926, in Potomac where he had arrested the defendants and John F. McCabe on suspicion that they had been connected with a series of holdups. Policeman Busch was with McCabe at the time and was injured by the shooting which began after the defendants were taken to the patrol box. McCabe recovered.

Failed to Find Errors.
The appellate court failed to find a single reversible error in the trial which resulted in the conviction of Eagles, Moreno and Proctor. It was argued last month by Miss Mary T. Bigelow, of counsel for the accused, that part of the evidence against the defendants to the jury might have been understood by the jury to mean that the defendants could have been convicted even if it was not shown that they had intended to kill Busch. Referring to this argument the appellate court stated that it had considered the charge made by Justice Hitz as a whole and failed to discover where or how it might have been misunderstood.

Philip Jackson, colored, one of the five men in the District Jail awaiting death by electrocution, will be the first to die. The Court of Appeals yesterday refused to make any move which would stay off the impending execution, which is scheduled for April 17.

Jury Refused on Insanity Plea.
Jackson, was convicted of having feloniously assaulted a white woman on February 18, 1927, in the Capitol Grounds and the jury recommended capital punishment with the verdict of guilty. The case got into the Court of Appeals because Justice Adolph A. Hoehling refused, after the trial, to impanel a jury to determine the mental condition of Jackson who was said to have been insane at the time of the crime. The Court of Appeals, taking judicial notice of the fact that Jackson was insane at the time of the crime, refused to impanel a jury to determine the mental condition of Jackson who was said to have been insane at the time of the crime.

Philip Jackson will ask the Appellate Court to stay its mandate in order to allow time to present the case for review to the United States Supreme Court. Assistant District Attorney William H. Collins prosecuted Jackson.

"Shade Shop" Held Open Trade Name

The second attempt of the Federal Trade Commission to enforce a "cease and desist" order against Alfred Kleener, Washington window shade manufacturer, failed yesterday in the Court of Appeals. Kleener uses the words "shade shop" in his business and the use of these words was objected to by W. Stokes Sammons, another window shade manufacturer, who contended that Kleener was guilty of unfair trade practices and was infringing on the use of the words.

SENATE COMMITTEE FORMALLY REPORTS ON RETIREMENT BILL

Annuities in Measure Put at $1,200 Instead of $1,000, as the Present Law.

The Dale bill to liberalize the civil service retirement law was formally reported to the Senate yesterday. It increases the maximum retirement annuity from $1,000 to $1,200 and makes retirement optional after 30 years' service, providing the employee has reached a certain age.

Under the present law, all Government employees are eligible for retirement after fifteen years' service, provided they are 70 years of age. The Dale bill would permit them to retire after 30 years' service when they reach the age of 68.

Letter-carriers and postal clerks, who under the present law may retire after 15 years' service, providing they are 65 years of age, may, under the Dale bill, retire at the age of 63 after 30 years of service.

Bill Plans $2,100 Maximum Pay for Rural Carriers

A general upward revision of the salaries of rural mail carriers who have served more than one year was asked in a bill yesterday by Representative Browning (Democrat), Mississippi. He proposed that carriers on 24-mile routes, after the first year of service, be granted a yearly increase of $100 with a maximum limit of $2,100.

A proportionate increase also was proposed under similar conditions for carriers operating on all routes of less than 24 miles.

VOTERS WILL CAST WISCONSIN BALLOTS IN PRIMARY TODAY

Republican Factions to Battle for 26 Delegates to Kansas City Session.

PROGRESSIVES' SLATE IS PLEDGED FOR NORRIS

Regulars Want Uninstructed Unit; Democrats Strong for Gov. Smith.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 2 (A.P.).—Republicans who had ruled Wisconsin for 20 years tomorrow will settle another round in the fight between two factions when they elect 26 delegates to the national convention. At the same time the Democrats, who four years ago were able to muster only 60,000 votes out of 850,000, will pick a like number of delegates from two full slates pledged to Gov. A. Smith.

Issues that have figured in campaigns for years were injected into the Republican delegate fight between the La Follette Progressives and the regulars aligned with the national administration. The eight-week campaign closed tonight with the Progressive domination of the State delegation, which has held for 25 years depending on the outcome of the primary election tomorrow.

La Follette-Blaine Head Progressives. Senators La Follette and Blaine head Progressive delegate slate pledged to Senator George W. Norris, as their presidential candidate. The two senators with Theodore Kronschnigg, former president of the board of regents of the University of Wisconsin, and Mrs. Rose Johnson are the candidates for delegate at large. They are supported by two Progressive candidates in each of the eleven congressional districts and are opposed by a ticket nominated at a State conference in Milwaukee with the backing of George V. Vandehey, Republican national committeeman. Andrew L. Kreutzer, former State senator; George Weisler, former dairy and food commissioner; Walter Kohler, manufacturer; and Mrs. Adalyn Wright Macaulay, former national president of the American Legion Auxiliary, lead the opposing ticket, whose members with few exceptions are seeking election as uninstructed delegates.

Teapot Dome and revelations of Republican campaign contributions have been the object of attack by the progressives, while the Republicans have made much of support by their opponents of Senator Norris. They have charged the progressives with inconsistency in supporting the Nebraska champion of the world and an ardent dry. Two years ago Wisconsin voted in favor of 275 beer and defeated Senator Lenroot, who led the administration's battle for entrance into the World Court.

Demand Haugen's Bill. The progressives' platform demands passage of the McNary-Haugen bill while their opponents assert the bill of that authorship voted by the President, offers no solution for Wisconsin's farm problem and discriminates against dairying. Little has been said by progressives of the wet and dry question, as their opponents, particularly in Milwaukee, regarded as overwhelmingly "wet." They made it an issue. The Republicans in Milwaukee sponsored a plank to ask Congress to increase the alcoholic content of beer. The progressive platform favors amendment of the Volstead act to permit 2.75 per cent beer.

Four years ago the progressives elected 28 of the 29 delegates to the convention and then supported Senator La Follette who ran independently against President Coolidge.

The Democratic fight is a three-cornered one so far as delegates at large are concerned. In addition to candidates of the two Smith factions, there are four men pledged to Senator Thomas J. Walsh. The presence of two Smith tickets resulted from dissension in the ranks over the selection of candidates at a meeting of the State central committee.

Retirement Measure Opposed by Minority

(Associated Press.) A minority report charging that the Tyson emergency officers' retirement bill would discriminate against the rank and file of the enlisted men of the World War, was filed in the House yesterday by Representatives Vincent (Republican), Michigan, and Rankin (Democrat), Mississippi. The veterans committee has reported the bill by a vote of 8 to 7.

Those of us who are opposed to it were again denied hearings on the proposition and for that reason are unable to give the members of the House the benefit of the information to which they are entitled," the minority report said.

Optometric Society Names Kraskin Head

Dr. Lewis H. Kraskin was reelected president of the District of Columbia Optometric Society at a meeting last night in the Raleigh Hotel. The other officers, who were reelected, are: Martin A. Leese, first vice president; Edwin H. Eze, second vice president; Dr. Edwin H. Silver, secretary; and Dr. Samuel J. Dantzie, treasurer.

Rex B. Shiley, George T. Warren, M. Luther Discus, George A. Baker and Dr. Bernard A. Baer were elected trustees. The report of the president, which reviewed the society's work for the year, lauded the advancement and advancement made by members of the society as the result of the completion of the first of a five-year post graduate clinic for the preservation and treatment of vision by Dr. A. M. Skerffington, of Kearney, Neb., and also reported an increase in membership of the society.

Washington Building Receiver Appointed

Harold E. Doyle has been appointed by the Equity Court as a temporary receiver for the Washington Building at Fifteenth street and New York avenue northwest pending the outcome of a suit filed by the Liberty Trust Co., of Boston, through Attorneys Hamilton & Hamilton. This building has been involved in litigation since December, 1926, when the Parker-Bridget Co., of New York, filed a suit to prevent the lowering of the level of the street floor of the building.

The Liberty concern sued the Shawmut National Bank and others to force close on a second mortgage of $800,000. Several other concerns, including James Stewart & Co., the builders, have filed liens against the building. The property is valued at $8,000,000 and there is a first mortgage against it for $2,500,000.

DAWES AND COOLIDGE BOOMED TO OPPOSE HOOVER IN OHIO

the argument that he is being disloyal to this friend. But if he does appear in a more active role in view of the Ohio situation it will tend to reveal the picture of the relationship between him and the former Illinois Governor, a picture that has been developing during the last several weeks. Instead of Lowden being the stalking horse for him, he is the stalking horse for Lowden.

It is true that Lowden will go into the convention with a sizable block of delegates, but not so many that will place him in a deadlock with Hoover. It will be a far different situation than in 1920, when Lowden and Wood killed each other off. The man out in front this time, all by himself, precariously so, is Hoover, not Lowden and somebody else. Lowden, therefore, is in a position, an enviable one, of being a possible "compromise" candidate.

The sizable block of delegates that he will have will emphasize the "compromise" argument.

In the meantime, unlike his position before the 1920 convention, Lowden has not incurred those preconception animosities. It is in this wise that Daves is the real stalking horse of the Lowden-Daves combine. He is the one who is bearing the preconception burden. The animosities in the nature of things are accruing to him.

Lowden Seeking Delegates. Lowden is going about quietly getting delegates here and there. In no instance has he crossed the Hoover workers. Daves is making a lot of noise but everywhere the Hoover workers turn they see, at least they profess to see, the master hand of the Vice President.

Observers have ignored Lowden so long and always referred to Daves instead, that it is Daves that the general public pictures as the candidate. He is the man whom the Hooverites blame every time anything goes wrong, not Lowden. He has not done anything.

It has come to the point, in fact, where Lowden might fairly be looked upon as the dark horse of the convention, and in this light he appears to excel in advantage with between 150 and 200 first-ballot delegates.

It is slowly beginning to be revealed the situation just like this: Those who know the two men have no idea that the Vice President will let any movement in his behalf be started at the convention until heaven and earth have been turned for the former Illinois governor.

To the extent that he can hold his friends against Hoover now he is willing to do so, but there is no thought in the back of his head that he may be the nominee himself. Because of the fact that the two men, in fact, it is being quite frequently predicted now that before a situation in the convention would arrive where he would be the legate of Lowden's strength the two would be out of the question.

As to the possibility of the Willis followers agreeing upon the use of President Coolidge's name, it is quite likely that Senator Fess would be heartily in favor of it. There is the serious question, however, whether the Lowden-Daves-Curtis-Watson combine would like this procedure. While the main thing now is to stop Hoover and the Coolidge talk has proved quite effective in other States in doing it, use of the name in Ohio might mean obligations which the anti-Hoover people do not want to accept.

There would be the possibility, too, that the President might put a stop to it. The Lowden-Lowden faction, in Chicago is known to be seriously considering petitioning the President to repudiate Mayor Thompson. The idea is to have about 10,000 persons petition him in the name of "law and order."

25 Members of Congress Depart for Willis Funeral

(Associated Press.) Eight senators and seventeen members of the House left last night for Ohio to attend the funeral of Frank B. Willis. Detaining at Columbus this morning they will go to Delaware shortly before noon for the services, and will return to Washington tonight.

In the delegation were Senator Fess, of Ohio, who will eulogize his dead colleague at the funeral; and Senators Jones and Dill, of Washington; Watson, of Indiana; Moses, of New Hampshire; Miceo, of Rhode Island; Thomas, of Oklahoma; and McKellar, of Tennessee. Senators Curtis, of Kansas; Robinson, of Arkansas; Bingham, of Connecticut; and Robinson, of Indiana, also named to the funeral committee, were unable to make the trip.

The House delegation was led by Speaker Longworth, and included other Ohio representatives. Three Ohioans, Kearns, Moore and Thompson, were detained here by illness, while Representatives Daves and McSweeney already are in Ohio.

Likely F. Brown, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, whose home is in Toledo, also left last night to attend the Willis funeral. He has been one of the directors of Secretary Hoover's fight against the Ohio convention delegates in opposition to Senator Willis.

Hoover Leaders Attend Rite for Willis Today

Columbus, Ohio, April 2.—Political Ohio today prepared to journey to Delaware to pay final tribute to the late United States Senator Frank B. Willis. The friends and developed followers of the senator are to predominate in the concourse that is to gather in the home city, where he died on Friday night. But others are coming, too. The Democratic party is to be represented by those with whom the senator engaged in the many contests in which, in his own recent words, he "fought the battles of the Republican party."

More than that, the insurgent faction which had followed the banner of Herbert C. Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, is to pay a tribute to the stricken leader. Representative Theodore E. Burton, Cleveland, who carried off the speaking campaign, is to be at Delaware. So is Walter F. Brown, Toledo, the Hoover commander in chief, and Col. Thad H. Brown, Columbus, Ohio, manager. The three men are to go together from Columbus. No others active in the Hoover cause are noted as likely to be present.

On the Democratic side, Henry G. Brunner, Mansfield, chairman of the Democratic executive committee, is to be present and many State and district leaders are to travel from their homes to be present. No such gathering of political leaders for a final tribute to a departed man has been held since Warren G. Harding died while President. Death has removed others formerly in high place since President Harding died, but no one who actually held important station at the hour of demise. This is the first public funeral in Ohio since the one at Marion nearly five years ago.

The final tribute paid, the contenders are to take up their contests where they were halted on Friday night. The Willis candidates for delegates and alternates are to attend in a body and to return here at 7 o'clock tomorrow night for their policy session.

It is evident, too, that the lines of the contest laid down by Col. Carm A. Thompson, the Willis manager, are to remain intact. In his first pronouncement he said that the contest is to be continued after the senator's death for the preservation of the Republican party.

Pan American Parley On Arbitration Urged

(Associated Press.)

A "conference of conciliation and arbitration" between Western Hemisphere republics was proposed yesterday in a resolution by Chairman Porter, of the House foreign affairs committee. The measure would request the President to call such a conference either this year or next, and would recommend an appropriation of $60,000 to defray expenses. It would be held in Washington.

The resolution said that the purpose of the conference would be the drafting of a convention to carry out the principle of arbitration for the pacific solution of international differences which was approved in a resolution adopted at the Havana conference.

WATSON ASSERTS FARM EQUALIZATION FEE IS FEASIBLE

Senator Takes Issue With Coolidge and Cabinet on Relief Bill in Senate.

DEMANDS PLATFORM'S
PLEDGE BE PERFORMED

McNary Explains Measure to Which Smith and Simmons
Lend Their Support.

(Associated Press.)
Issue with President Coolidge and his cabinet was taken in the Senate yesterday by Senator Watson, of Indiana, a Republican presidential candidate, in championing the controversial equalization fee provision of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill.

Opening debate on the bill seeking a solution of the long standing controversy over farm relief, Senator Watson declared the issue had resolved into the feasibility of the equalization fee, by which it is proposed to raise funds for marketing surplus crops.

The Indiana senator, who is opposing Secretary Hoover in his State for presidential delegates, recalled that the Republican platform called for farm relief. President Coolidge vetoed the McNary-Haugen bill a year ago because of the equalization fee among other reasons.

Congress View Different.
"President Coolidge, Secretary Mellon and Secretary Jardine," Watson said, "all admit the presence of this problem and all have suggested a solution, but Congress has taken a different view and arrived at a different conclusion."

However, it is manifest that all persons are anxious to carry out the platform pledge and are willing to go as far as possible toward reconciling their views to achieve the common purpose.

Beyond that the senator did not go into the politics of the legislation which has divided both parties in Congress in the past and on which issue there is division in Republican presidential ranks with Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, and Senator Watson opposing the position of the President and his cabinet.

Chairman McNary, of the agriculture committee, yielded to Senator Watson to fire the opening shot of the debate but the Oregon senator took the floor to lead the fight during the several hours of discussion which the new measure provoked. He explained that virtually all objections of Mr. Coolidge to the McNary-Haugen bill of last session had been in this measure.

Equalization Fee Modified.
Even the equalization fee has been modified so as to make it applicable to all commodities instead of a few, and to have it brought into effect only after an emergency situation has arisen, Senator McNary explained.

Quick response to the bill was found on the Democratic side of the chamber, Senator Smith, of South Carolina, and Simmons, of North Carolina, giving their endorsement with the qualification that they did not believe the equalization fee could be applied successfully to cotton.

"We have not to do something," Smith said. "The farmer is looking up at the bottom and we can't hurt him; maybe this will help him."

Borah Is Critical.
Senator Borah (Republican), of Idaho, an opponent of the equalization fee, which he contends is unconstitutional, was somewhat critical of the powers invested in the farm board under the bill to resort to the equalization fee.

Senator Simmons proposed that a "small annual fee" be levied on cotton produced in order to collect funds for disposing of surpluses in that commodity. He said he believed the bill would be of benefit to agriculture.

Referring to charges that the fee was unconstitutional and difficult of collection, Watson said the Supreme Court could decide without inconvenience to operation of the bill on the first question. He insisted that collection of the fee would be "simple."

Has $250,000,000 Fund.
Senator McNary emphasized that the bill would resort to the equalization fee only in extreme emergencies and then only after exhaustive inquiry by the proposed farm board. He pointed out that a $250,000,000 fund would be set up to be made available to farmers and farm cooperative associations in marketing surplus crops and recalled that Secretary Jardine had declared the machinery, other than the equalization fee, provided by the bill would be sufficient to meet the requirements of farm relief.

Senator Overman (Democrat), North Carolina, interrupted McNary with a question as to the likelihood of President Coolidge vetoing the present bill in event of its passage by Congress. The Oregon senator replied he feared to discuss that aspect of the situation later, referring the Senate to the arguments in behalf of the constitutionality of the bill in the committee report.

"I will say now, however," he added, "that I consider this bill the best method evolved for orderly marketing to assure an even and steady stream of commerce. Its constitutionality rests squarely on the commerce clause of the Constitution."

UNCERTAINTY MARKS EVE OF CONVENTION IN MAINE

Gov. Smith May Not Have Support of Entire Democratic Delegation.

2 OPPOSE NEW YORKER

Waterville, Me., April 2 (A.P.).—As the Democratic hosts assembled tonight on the eve of their biennial State convention, an air of uncertainty prevailed as to their standard bearer for the September election and whether the entire Maine delegation to the national convention would support Gov. Smith of New York for the presidential nomination.

Major Ernest L. McLean, of Augusta, who led the party two years ago, when Gov. Ralph O. Brewster was re-elected, and had been endorsed by the State committee as a candidate to run again this year for gubernatorial honors, had not reached a decision tonight when he returned to his home after talking with party leaders and delegates.

This decision may not be reached until after the convention. Herbert E. Holmes, of Lewiston, is expected to be the candidate for United States senator.

Two opponents of a 100 per cent Smith delegation appeared in the presence of Mrs. William R. Pattangall, of Augusta, who is retiring at her own volition after nine years of service as chairwoman of the State committee, and Roy L. Fernald, of Wintertown.

Mrs. Pattangall, who desires to be chosen delegate at large from the Third district, and who stands strongly for prohibition, is known to be opposed to the nomination of Gov. Smith.

Fernald, while unopposed to Gov. Smith, desires to become a delegate in order that he may cast the complimentary vote for Mrs. Pattangall's husband, an associate justice of the Maine Supreme Court, gubernatorial candidate and party leader for years until his elevation to the bench, and prominent delegate at the last national convention.

NANKING AGREEMENT HELD SATISFACTORY BY OFFICIALS HERE

Regret for Indignities to U. S.
Flag and Representatives Expressed in Note.

AMERICANS WILL GET
FULL REPARATIONS

Troops Figuring in Disorders to Be Punished; Good Wishes Extended.

(Associated Press.)
The agreement reached by Minister MacMurray and Chinese Nationalist officials for settlement of the Nanking case was described yesterday by the State Department as entirely satisfactory to the United States.

The Nationalist government expressed profound regret for the indignities to the American flag and to official representatives of the United States for the loss of property suffered by the American consulate during the outbreak at Nanking and for personal injuries and material damages done to American residents.

It declared the outbreaks were instigated by Communists prior to the establishment of the Nationalist government. Navy and other officials accepted responsibility for them. Orders have been issued for the protection of the lives and property of Americans in China. The troops of the Nationalist government which took part in the disorders have been disbanded and steps have been taken for the punishment of the soldiers and others implicated.

Commission on Losses.
Full reparation was promised for personal injuries and material damage done to the American consulate, American officials and American residents and property at Nanking. For this it was proposed that there be created a joint commission to verify the injuries and damages.

CITIZENS OF NEW YORK VOTE IN PRIMARY TODAY

Every Democratic Candidate
Is Committed to Nomination of Gov. Smith.

G. O. P. SEEKS FREE MINDS

Albany, N. Y., April 2 (A.P.).—Every Democratic candidate for election at tomorrow's presidential primary in New York State is irrevocably committed to the nomination of Gov. Alfred E. Smith for President by the Democratic national convention, at Houston, Tex.

The plan of the Republican leaders is for an unopposed State delegation to the national convention of their party at Kansas City.

Only five contests for district delegates confront the voters of each party this year. Thirty of these contests are in the Republican ranks, one in Manhattan, one in Brooklyn, and a third in the Erie-Niagara congressional district. There are two Democratic contests upstate, one in the Thirtieth and the other in the Thirtieth-fourth congressional districts.

The Democratic delegates-at-large and alternates-at-large will be appointed by the Democratic State committee at a meeting to be held at the National Democratic Club, New York City, on April 17.

The Republican delegates-at-large, named by the State committee of the party last month, are Cornelius N. Bliss and Charles N. Sabin, of Nassau County; National Committee member Charles D. Hiles, of New York; State Chairman George K. Morris, of Amsterdam; Representative Bertrand H. Snell, of St. Lawrence county; former United States Senator James W. Wadsworth, of Livingston county, and Miss Florence Wardell, of Otsego county.

Partisan contests for district delegates are sectional affairs. In the Nineteenth congressional district (Manhattan), President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia University, and Robert P. Lewis, the designers of the Republican organization, are opposed by Thomas M. Balliet and Lois E. Barr.

PASS THE FLOOD BILL.

The postponement of consideration of the flood relief bill by the House of Representatives would bear a sinister meaning. It is rumored that some of the House leaders are disposed to prevent the bill from coming before the House unless an agreement can be reached whereby the lower Mississippi Valley States will be compelled to contribute to the cost of flood control works. If this rumor be true, the House leaders are running the risk of losing their prestige, because the public demands that the stricken States shall be exempted from paying special taxes for future security, and the public in this instance will have its way.

There is no justice in imposing an extra burden upon the flood States. They are already paying directly and indirectly a terrible price for floods which originate in other territory. If exempted entirely from any part of the cost of flood control works, the flood States will still be subject to disasters while the works are being installed. The Red Cross contributed nobly to flood relief, but no one pretends that it relieved the stricken communities entirely. These communities have taxed themselves to exhaustion and have gone into debt, fighting the Mississippi floods. Five years will elapse, at least, before protective works can be built. During that time the areas subject to flood will probably face additional losses.

The Mississippi River belongs to the United States. The Government asserts control of it as against the claim of any State or community. The Government is responsible for keeping the river within its banks. A claim by any State or group of States to possession of the river, or to exclusive use of its waters, would be speedily resisted and overruled by the Government. If anything in the United States is truly national it is the Mississippi River, the common highway of the Nation.

These facts have been recognized by all the people of all the States. There is no objection anywhere against the assumption by the Government of the entire cost of protective works. States remote from the river are willing to pay their proportion of the cost of flood control. The States subject to overflow will also pay their proportion if the Government does the work and pays for it. The common work should be paid for out of the common Treasury, which holds money collected equitably from all the people of all the States. No other equitable plan for paying the cost of controlling the Mississippi can be evolved.

The Senate bill, now approved by the House committee, has been laid before the House for action. A resolution giving the bill preferred legislative status has been introduced and is before the rules committee. The flood bill should be expedited to its final passage, so that no time may be lost in beginning this life-saving work.

THE TUNNEY-HEENEY BOUT.

Tom Heenev, of New Zealand, emerges as the next opponent of Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion of the world. The announcement was made rather hastily, because of the threat of the New York boxing commission to discipline Tunney in the event he failed to name his antagonist. No dearth of challenges existed when the titleholder was ordered to make haste, but it was somewhat difficult to decide which one of a bad lot should be selected. Considering the field of challengers, Tunney could have done but little better and he might have done much worse.

A point that may have influenced the selection of Heenev is that he fights under the Union Jack. It has been a great many years, now since Great Britain has produced a man who could even be considered for a heavyweight championship. The country which developed boxing has had a hard time finding a man who could bring the title home. Bob Fitzsimmons was the last of the British stock to achieve any prominence whatever. The more recent aspirants have failed even to be good second-raters.

It is not necessary, however, to take seriously, in connection with Heenev's nomination, the suggestion that the fight may be staged in London. There is only one country that can support a heavyweight affair as staged on the modern scale. The English may be devotees of pugilism, but not to the extent of paying $40 for a ringside seat and $5 to be within gun range of the encounter. Tex Rickard's theory that it is not well to play return engagements with his title bouts may be a sound one, but it will be much better for him to take his chances in the United States than to try and get $1,000,000 for his production abroad. They aren't used to it over there, and the American public is, regardless of the punishment that it has already taken.

JIMMY HAS FRIENDS.

Jimmy Degnan, of the borough of East Newark, N. J., came back from the war pretty well shot up. It took several operations to straighten him out. Heavy work was beyond him, and his friends elected him a tax collector.

Most persons think of a tax collector as an unpleasant sort of individual, but Jimmy Degnan was not. Every time one of his veteran friends had a paper to swear to Jimmy was the notary, and for the more than 7,000 documents of this sort to which he affixed his seal he never took a cent. Jimmy was really helping his friends as a vocation and collecting taxes as an avocation.

Then there came a day when Jimmy's official books wouldn't balance. Officially, he was $7,627 in the red. The only thing that Jimmy knew was that he hadn't gotten the money. He looked through his desk and found several hundred dollars he had forgotten to enter and two of his own pay vouchers that he had never cashed. The books still didn't balance, so Jimmy resigned. "Funny thing," he said, "I've known what to do for the other fellows, but when it came time to do something for myself I was out of luck."

But Jimmy wasn't "out of luck." East Newark read the official report and then called on Jimmy. He told them that he hadn't taken any of the money. That was enough for East Newark. There are going to be a few card parties and moving pictures there soon. Any discrepancy may still be in the book figures when the auditors finish their work is to be met by the receipts from these affairs. Jimmy may be a tax collector, but the ancient enemy doesn't apply in his case. East Newark knows Jimmy too well for that. It is thinking of the thousands that he has helped and has determined to prove for once that the fable of "bread cast upon the waters" still has a meaning.

The world had never heard of Jimmy Degnan until he got into trouble. Few persons were acquainted with the borough of East Newark. Jimmy and East Newark must be made out of the right stuff. He had faith in his fellow men and they, in turn, had faith in him. That is enough to distinguish him at a time when friendship appears to be as elusive as the rumors that so often dispel it.

GETTING DOWN TO FACTS.

Beginning with this month the trend of politics will turn from the theoretical to the practical. Before the end of the month more than half of the delegates to the Kansas City convention will have been selected, and almost that many of those who will make the trek to Houston will have been named. The mortality rate in the tables of strength, with which the supporters of all the candidates are now playing, will be high. There is still time for the friends of half a dozen or more candidates to lay claims to the same States, but as the primary and convention toll increases the deflation of booms will be the order of the day.

It is already apparent that the question which the April sphinx may be expected to answer is whether or not there is to be room for the play of politics at either one of the conventions. This month and the first day of the next, when California votes, are counted upon by many political observers to give the answer. So far as the majority of the candidates are concerned, the next 30 days are the fateful ones. The strategy of all those in the field, with the exception of Herbert Hoover and Gov. Smith, is to make the actual battleground the floor of the convention. In order to reach this objective they must postpone a definite decision in the preliminary skirmishes that are now under way. The danger mark on the Republican side is a delegate strength of 545, for the Democrats, 732. As long as neither one of the present leaders can reach or surpass these marks respectively, there is hope, especially in the mind of a man who has heard the lascivious hum of a presidential bee.

Because of the fact that the two leading candidates have such a running start, many happenings that, under other circumstances, would be more calmly considered are to be marked as of political importance. Already it is said that the Hoover boom is facing a crisis in Ohio and Indiana. If the showing of the Secretary of Commerce in these two States should exceed present expectations, his friends will be willing to accept such an interpretation. If he falls below the mark his enemies will have that much capital. Gov. Smith, it is said, must meet his test in California, and there, too, success or failure will have a repercussion in other States.

April, however, will do much to dispel the glorification of the important. Regardless of what partisans may say, it will bring the total of actual delegates up to the point where calculations may be made on solid premises. The situation will change from the abstract to the concrete. In that sense the month will be important. The fog of words will yield to the sharp outline of facts, which in the ultimate is as necessary in politics as in any other pursuit.

WIDENING THE STREETS.

The local street-widening program has progressed, notwithstanding some public protest. Local authorities have insisted, and their position coincides with that held elsewhere, that traffic congestion can be relieved only through provision of broader arteries of travel. In widening streets it is necessary to sacrifice trees, and Washington is only human in deploring the destruction of trees.

The Women's City Club is the latest organization to enter the dispute. A statement recently made public protests against "further widening of Washington streets and the consequent destruction of street trees." This, it continues, is "only a temporary expedient in any case, not a solution of the automobile problem, and obviously it can not continue."

Whether or not street widening constitutes a solution of the traffic congestion problem remains to be seen. If congestion increases during the next decade as it did during the last, it is quite true that the newly-widened streets ultimately will have become inadequate. Yet, for the time being, street widening has helped considerably. Thirteenth street today carries a far greater volume of traffic with less confusion and congestion than the Thirteenth street of several years ago. Connecticut avenue, since it was widened, has become an important and thoroughly orderly artery.

The street widening program must continue, or the development of Washington will be stunted. It is a great pity that fine old trees must be sacrificed in the process. The remedy, however, lies in creating other tree-lined thoroughfares in areas where trees will not handicap business, in laying out and planting new streets wide enough to handle anticipated future traffic, and in replanting wherever it has been found necessary to destroy. The Women's City Club in its statement makes the further charge that there is little hope for the saplings that have replaced destroyed trees, for in a few years they will have "reached across the narrow sidewalk, and the result must be either deformity or destruction." This contingency can be guarded against by planting trees that grow straight and slender.

SAFER FLYING.

Some time ago the Department of Commerce made public the fact that some 80 per cent of the air fatalities during 1927 occurred in unlicensed planes, and that more than 97 per cent of all licensed planes operating in the country flew millions of miles during the year without a single fatality. The Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce has included these figures in its 1928 Year Book, and has added to them other statistics gathered from operators of air mail lines, air transport, and various other services.

The Year Book points out, for instance, that in the Government air mail operations there was but one fatality for every 1,413,000-odd pilot-passenger miles, with about the same ratio in air transport operations. In addition to the casualties occurring in the regulated operations of the Government air mail and air transport companies, it says, "26 fatalities occurred in transoceanic, racing demonstrations and test flying, and 21 to students attempting to learn to fly, none of which were in strictly commercial aerial service. The remainder of the fatalities, 110 in number, were attributed to aerial service operations."

Day by day and month by month, the American commercial air transportation system is building up a record of reliable performance and safety. The air mail routes when operated by the Government made a wonderful record, especially in view of the fact that they were operated day and night, through all kinds of weather, over mountains, deserts, forests and cities. The tradition then founded has been carried forward by the commercial companies that have assumed the responsibility of carrying the mails, and is being passed on to the newly-born passenger transport services. The American public will take up aviation as soon as it realizes that it is both speedy and safe. Another year's experience, especially if progress in safety is made during the coming twelve months, should serve effectively to bring this realization home. Of especial importance in this connection is the work of the Department of Commerce, in insisting that only thoroughly airworthy ships and trustworthy, competent pilots be permitted to carry passengers, and in investigating the cause of every accident and publishing the facts.

LIBERALIZED RETIREMENT PAY.

The bill raising the maximum annuity to retired Federal employees from $1,000 to $1,200, permitting optional retirement after 30 years of service and reducing the age limit slightly, has been favorably reported to the Senate. The bill also changes the method of computing the annuity in order to give greater benefits to the lower paid employee.

A similar bill has been introduced to the House, where sentiment is believed to favor liberalization of the retirement law. The bill now on the Senate calendar awaiting action has an excellent chance of being passed, provided its supporters will push it, and provided it does not get caught in a legislative jam.

The retirement policy of the Government never has been generous. The major portion of the retirement fund is contributed by the employees themselves through monthly deductions in their pay checks. It is estimated that under the liberalized law, should it be enacted, the Government worker would pay 3 1/2 per cent on the pay roll toward its costs, as he does at present, while the Government would pay 1.18 per cent, instead of the .48 it pays at present. In addition, it should be remembered that the maximum annuity is much higher than the average retirement pay. It is estimated that the maximum annuity of $1,200 granted under the liberalized law would in effect become an average annuity, throughout the service, of only about $800.

The Government worker does not receive a large wage. If he has a family to support and children to educate, as a general thing he can put little or nothing by for a rainy day. When old age arrives he is forced to subsist entirely upon his annuity, and even $1,200 in this day and age is little enough upon which to keep body and soul together. Yet $1,200 is better than the $1,000 that is permitted at the present time, and since there is little prospect of liberalizing the retirement law beyond this figure, every effort should be made to secure enactment of the amendment.

THE UNEMPLOYMENT BOGEY.

The National Association of Manufacturers injects a reassuring note into the unemployment controversy. According to its records, 1,978 companies reporting are employing at present a total of 663,000 employees, as against 655,000 at the same time last year. This represents an increase of 1.24 per cent. The same companies if they were operating at top capacity would be employing 757,000 individuals, so that today they are operating at 87.5 per cent of capacity.

In comment on the report, John E. Edgerton, president of the association, said:

"When any considerable typical group of manufacturers, in all parts of the country, report that they are operating with more workers than last year; and when that same group is producing at a rate of 87.5 per cent of their highest possible maximum production, I can not see where we have any cause for undue alarm over the employment situation of itself."

One by one those who have been talking unemployment have been silenced. The report of the Secretary of Labor punctured sensational rumors. Since then there have been made few attempts to justify the exaggerated talk that was prevalent a few weeks ago. With warmer weather, permitting building and construction activities and agriculture, unemployment will vanish into thin air.

The National Association of Manufacturers reports that the same companies operating at 87.5 per cent of capacity today were operating at but 81 per cent capacity last year. There was no considerable talk of unemployment last year at this date, even though conditions were 6.5 per cent worse. Last year, however, there was no presidential campaign in the offing.

Planes will seem as safe as cars when they begin to kill as many people and accidents become too common to be news.

Mexican Labor

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THERE are two sides to nearly all questions, and truth lies between them. There are thorns with the rose, but you can enjoy the odor without touching the stem.

Congress and trade unions are concerned about Mexican labor, and many who know nothing about it are offering advice. They desire certain things, and manufacture beliefs and facts to support their desires.

It is charged that the Mexican laborer has a low standard of living and therefore can and will work for less than a white man should.

That is true. Along the border I was told by people with land to sell: "Mexican labor here is cheap and plentiful." I found the "greasers" working happily and efficiently for a dollar a day.

The Mexican peasant dreams no dreams. Give him five rooms and he tears out the partitions. He wishes to live in one room. Give him a wood floor and he uses it for fuel. He wishes to live on his mother earth. And under that.

He adores his family. Pay him on Saturday night and he buys a week's provisions. Then he frolics and returns to work dead broke. All he asks of life is a large family, a little music, artificial flowers, sunshine.

An American can't and won't and shouldn't live as the Mexican peon does. But here is a thing to consider. The American laborer wishes to work in town. He wouldn't like work on the farm, even if it paid good wages. The cheap Mexican isn't taking his job, for he doesn't want the job.

Moreover, farm labor is unskilled and therefore inevitably cheap; in all ages it has been done by a lower class, and done cheaply, for food must be cheap.

Pay farm labor $8 a day and beans will cost a dollar a pound. The trade unionist would complain along with the rest of us.

If food is to be cheap, it must be produced cheaply. Until there is machinery to do it, unskilled labor must do it for little wages. If only the peon can live on $1 a day, then only the peon can keep the cost of food within the reach of skilled workmen.

The trained alien has brains enough to demand what he is worth. The untrained alien does work an American has no taste for.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Defects of Annuity Bill.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The pending retirement bill is about to be reported to the House. It will allow optional retirement after 30 years' service, at age 60 years. That will benefit only such few as have other income, and will be paid for by all the rest, who can never benefit by it. Favoritism?

It will allow about 20 per cent of the annuitants, whose average pay exceeded $1,600, a 20 per cent increase; but only 12 1/2 per cent increase to the lower-paid 80 per cent. "That gives greatest benefit to those whose need is least, and but little benefit to those whose need is greatest. It increases $83.33 a month $10.67; but a 63-year-old invalid who served 19 years gets only 36 cents added to $2.87 a month. It leaves 5,000 in dire poverty and 800 near starvation.

It still requires those whose pay exceeds $1,600 to contribute $3.50 from each $100 excess, for which they will get no higher annuity. That is intolerable as business practice. Any private citizen who would do such a thing would be arrested for fraud. It is a holdup.

It has eliminated the feature intended to allow the low-paid employees to include the $240 bonus as part of pay in computing annuities. That cuts them, out of $15 a month, which others get. That is the most heartless feature of a stupid amendment of a bad law which could hardly be worse.

The civil service committee has ignored the plea to amend the law as to correct these bad features, and obviously does not care whether thousands of helpless faithful servants are turned out to suffer and hundreds to starve. Or is it deficient intelligence, instead of lack of humanity?

Nearly all of the 60,000 employees in this city are sufferers from these facts. C. B. HEMINGWAY, Secretary, The Adequate Annuity Association of Federal Employees.

Spare the Dogwoods.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In about two weeks the dogwood will be in bloom, what there is left to bloom, and also many people will be out in the country motoring for pleasure. Some of these motorists will probably tear many of the pretty sprays off the trees and continue riding for a while longer. When they get home all of the dogwood will be wilted, and nine times out of ten it is cast into the trash barrel, thus depriving hundreds of other people of the pleasure of seeing this beautiful spring bloom.

Why can't the people appreciate the fact that this blossom is very delicate and wills within an hour after having been picked? It is a matter of down-right selfishness to destroy natural beauty, and the dogwood trees are certainly a natural beauty. If there ever was one. School children are asked to give the dogwood a "chance", and I hope that the motorists will give it a chance, too. As it is now the trees are becoming fewer and fewer all the time. Don't destroy that which gives pleasure to hundreds of others when left in its natural state.

Patriotic Squirrels.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Many people would laugh if they were told that the squirrel is a patriotic animal, yet this little animal actually fights for this great Nation, although he is not in the ranks.

Every fall the squirrels which are wise store up a large quantity of food for use in the winter. Most of this food is hidden away in separate caches somewhere in the ground, and it consists largely, although not wholly, of nuts. Consequently the squirrel has been the most important agent in the reproduction of black walnut groves, the wood of which is used to supply the United States Army with gunstocks. Now let those who say the squirrel is not patriotic laugh that off.

Portraits of Men

Men have so many needs for photographs.

First, of course, their dear ones and close friends. Then the club, trade journals, newspapers and so on.

Men prefer Underwood portraits because they are masculine—forceful. They cost a bit more, but men demand the best.

There are examples in our window.

The K-4-S

with the strength of 3,000 horses
speeds the LIBERTY LIMITED

You could never guess the speed of the K-4-S just from its size.

With all its more than 500,000 pounds of massiveness, it is by no means the heaviest, nor the biggest, locomotive on the Pennsylvania. But it has won its place as one of the swiftest, most reliable engines on the rails.

Built by the Pennsylvania to combine high speed with strength, the K-4-S has vast reserves of power... if need be, it has more power than 3,000 horses leaping as one at the driver's will.

While the passengers seated before snow-white tables in the diner relish choice food and subtle flavors, the K-4-S does a smooth seventy miles an hour—with a reserve of power which would enable the driver to raise the speed, if the rules of the road would permit, close to a hundred.

That's the reason why the Pennsylvania flyers, however they speed, never seem to strain.

SERENADE WILL BE SUNG

Nearly 50 persons will participate in the Eveready hour tonight at 9 o'clock when a program of Russian Easter music is presented. The Eveready Orchestra will be enlarged to 35 pieces, assisted by a Russian male chorus. Selections of both Russian folk music and Russian liturgical music, the latter considered as being the most marvelous choral music that the world has known, will be given.

Charles Previn, conductor at Roxy's Theater in New York, has been engaged to direct the Russian male chorus for this broadcast. Included in the orchestral selections will be the famed "La Grande Marche Russe," the Russian Easter overture of Rimsky-Korsakoff.

Schubert's "Serenade" will be sung as a quartet number when the Seiberling Singers go on the air at 8:30 o'clock tonight. In addition, James Melton, tenor, will sing "M'appari Tuitt' Amor" from "Martha," and "Sylvia," by Olyo Speaks.

The W. B. & A. Entertainers will be heard at 8 o'clock, when a male quartet is featured. The Eskimos will present a typical program at 10 o'clock, and WRC's program will close with a half hour of dance music by the Spanish Village Orchestra.

The United States Navy Band Orchestra will go on the air from the Salt Loft at the Navy Yard at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon for an hour.

Station WMAL will present its "Radio Movie Club" at 10:30 o'clock tonight. Other features during the evening include a talk by Prof. F. W. Geise, of the University of Maryland, a dance program by "The Georgetown Collegiates."

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, hollow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now and then to keep f. 15c 30c and 60c.

Eugene S. Costa in mandolin solos, and Carl Caul, the smiling barytone.

Station WHEF will be on the air from 10 until 11:30 o'clock this morning with its usual program and again at 8:45 o'clock this afternoon, when The Town Crier and George Skadding and his Congressional Dance Orchestra will be featured.

The birthday of Washington Irving, New York's earliest historian and outstanding literary genius, will be celebrated in the Soconyland Sketches over the radio from Stations WEA, New York; WGY, Schenectady; WGR, Buffalo; WJAB, Providence; and others at 7:30 o'clock tonight, when "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow" is broadcast.

Commemorating the anniversary of America's entrance into the World War, the Haller Bakers, broadcasting from KDKA at 7:30 o'clock tonight, will present a program of war songs. The rendering of "In Flanders Fields" will be included. Three movements from Beethoven's Symphony No. 1 will be played during the Slumber Music period from WJZ at 11 o'clock tonight.

GORDON TO ASSUME BENCH DUTIES TODAY

Will Be Sworn in as District
Supreme Court Justice by McCoy.

Maj. Peyton Gordon, United States Attorney for the District of Columbia, will relinquish his office this morning at 10 o'clock to become an associate justice of the District Supreme Court. He will be sworn in by Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy. The court will sit in general term for the purpose of inducting Maj. Gordon into office. He succeeds Justice Adolph A. Hoehling, who resigned in December to enter private practice.

As no successor to Maj. Gordon has been appointed, his place will be taken temporarily by his chief assistant, Leo A. Rover. Rover is an active candidate to succeed Maj. Gordon and it appears that the contest has narrowed down to Rover and James Proctor, former Assistant District Attorney.

Commissioners Win In Suit for $50,000

The District Commissioners can not be sued for acts committed by the courts of the District, according to an opinion rendered yesterday by the Court of Appeals in the case of Robert W. Brown, of Norfolk, Va., who attempted to collect $50,000 damages for his commitment to St. Elizabeths Hospital.

The suit was thrown out in the lower court and Brown appealed. The Commissioners followed the usual procedure in this case and brought Brown into court where a jury adjudged him to be of unsound mind. He was subsequently adjudged sane and released. He was at the hospital 33 months. Assistant Corporation Counsel Ringgold Hart appeared for the Commissioners in this case.

District Measures Up Today.
The bill to enlarge the Woman's Bureau of the Police Department and the child labor bill will be considered by the Senate District committee at a meeting this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

ALEXANDRIA JAILER FINED $5 IN COURT ON DRUNK CHARGE

Four Others Arrested in Raid
on Look-up; Son Penalized $120 for Transporting.

SILLEX IS SUSPENDED;
INQUIRY PROPOSED

Hospital Elects Trustees and Officers; Scottish Rite
Banquet Thursday.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
124 N. Patrick St., Alexandria, Va.
City Jailer James Sillex in Police Court yesterday entered a plea of guilty to being drunk at the City Jail and was fined $5 and costs of $9 by Justice
W. S. Snow. A charge of malfeasance in office also appeared on the card made out against Sillex at police headquarters, but this charge, the court announced, had been dropped.
Sillex, with Walter Slocomb, Willie Wilburn and H. M. Langford, prisoners and Barbour Beach, who apparently was a visitor, was arrested early Sunday morning when the jail was raided by Sergeant Silms, Acting Sergeant, Mc-Cleary and Policemen Miller and Mullen.
The men, it is alleged, were gathered in a large room downstairs at the jail at the time of the raid, with several empty whisky bottles nearby.
Slocomb, Wilburn and Langford, being State prisoners, will be arraigned before Judge Howard W. Smith in the Corporation Court, but Barbour Beach was sentenced to six months on the State farm as a habitual offender.
Just before the raid on the jail James Sillex, Jr., son of the jailer, was arrested as he stepped from an automobile at the jail. He was charged with transporting liquor and was fined $50 and costs, of $70.50.
City Sergeant R. H. Cox has suspended
Jailer Sillex from duty and stated yesterday he will make a thorough investigation of the case.

George Washington Masonic National Memorial Association, and past grand master of Masons in the District of Co-

and contractor of the memorial temple.
Dr. Dunbar made an inspection of the

Wales Suffers Two
Hard Falls in Race

Hawthorn, Durham, N. gland, April 2
(A.P.).—Hard luck, which has been tripping the Prince of Wales' heels with amazing persistence this season, gave the heir apparent to Britain's throne
two jolting falls today in the Welsh Guards challenge cup steeplechase.

The luck, however, was no tougher than the prince's body, for again his royal and nimble highness was unhurt by the double tumble. He responded to the anxiety of his friends with his accustomed broad grin of reassurance.
Today's mishap brought the total of recent falls to six in five days.

Prosecutor, in Fight
With Sheriff, Is Shot

Madill, Okla., April 2 (A.P.).—Franz
J. Kim, county attorney of Marshall County, was shot and critically wounded
today by Sheriff Ed Long after an argument at a meeting of the county commissioners. Kim was taken to a hospital at Sherman, Tex. Physicians said Kim had slight chance to survive.
Kim was said by witnesses to have charged that a claim presented to the commissioners by Sheriff Long was exorbitant. After a few minutes' argument Long was alleged to have drawn a gun and started firing. Kim was struck twice, in the right leg and in the stomach. The commissioners were to meet this afternoon to consider the appointment of temporary officers to succeed
Kim and Long.

Fairfax School Tax Rates Are Increased

The Fairfax County School Board, at a special meeting yesterday, decided on a levy of 95 cents per $100 of assessed value as the uniform county rate. The levy will be made under a new law which enables the board of supervisors to make the levy uniform for all districts of the county. The levy was decided on yesterday by the school board is subject to the approval of the board of supervisors.

The decision of the school board creates an unusual situation, in that it increases the taxes in the three districts of the county which are without school debt and decreases the taxes in the three districts which now are under heavy bonded indebtedness.

Under the proposed levy, the rate in Centerville district would be increased from 80 cents to 95 cents; in Lee district from 75 cents to 95 cents, and in Mount Vernon district, from 85 cents to 95 cents. Decreases would be made in the other three districts, Providence, Dranesville and Falls Church, from 91 to 95 cents. In the last three districts, however, there is a special levy in addition of 25 cents.

SCHOOL WOMAN SLAYING ROUSES MASSACHUSETTS

Motive for Murder Is Seen by Police in Condition of Victim.

CHILD, 11, IS QUESTIONED

Special to The Washington Post.
Boston, April 2.—Police announcement that Miss Margaret Isabel Stewart, murdered Beverly school supervisor, was soon to have become a mother, and that her condition furnished the motivate for the crime, was followed today by news that the records of the town of Westboro showed that a baby, Mary Jenette, was born on April 18, 1917, to a young woman of the same name.

No father was recorded for the child in Westboro and detectives are searching for a clue as to his whereabouts.
State Officer Edward O'Neill spent the day in Worcester questioning Miss Stewart's father, and State Officer Edward Sherlock went to Beverly to question Mary Jeannette, the deaf child of nearly 11 years, known there as the sister of the murdered woman.

It was to be near Mary Jeannette that Miss Stewart sought work at the Beverly school for deaf mutes, where she was employed when her career was cut short by murder.

Efforts also were made today to find in what banks and under what names
two safety deposit boxes were registered, matching two safety vault keys found in the purse of the dead Miss Stewart.

Medical Examiner George Burgess
Magrath, of Boston, now has possession of the slain woman's body and is performing an autopsy.
Friends of Miss Stewart have been hinting at a secret marriage, and police directed the major portion of their work today to endeavor to ascertain if such a ceremony was performed. Developments are looked for within 24 hours which will focus police activity on a definite trail which it is hoped will lead to an arrest. The countryside around Concord was seething today with high feeling over the brutality of the crime. Nothing like it has been experienced in this section in many years, and public opinion is outspoken in its demand for a speedy trial results quickly in bringing the murderer to justice.

FRENCHMAN TUNES AERO FOR HOP ACROSS TO U. S.

De Troyat, Lindbergh's Friend to Use Replica of Spirit of St. Louis.

PLANS FLIGHT IN APRIL

Paris, April 2 (A.P.).—Sergeant de Troyat, noted French pilot, who was one of Col. Lindbergh's closest friends while the American aviator was in Paris last year, is grooming his "mystery plane," which is scheduled to be the first this year to attempt a Paris-to-New York flight.

The sergeant made a flight from Villacoublay to Le Bourget today, remaining at the famous aviation ground for five hours and then returning to his base. It developed that he went to Le Bourget to consult with experts regarding his earthen inductor compass. He conferred with Capt. Weiss and Commandant Renvois, and then as photographers began to gather new off without discussing his plan.

De Troyat's plane is an exact copy of
Col. Lindbergh's famous Spirit of St.
Louis, having the same measurements and motor. He expects to take off early this month.

The sergeant first became acquainted with Col. Lindbergh last May a few days after the American aviator had arrived in Paris on his epoch-making transoceanic flight. The two men went up in separate planes from Le Bourget and engaged in a series of aerial acrobatics that delighted the military aviators who had gathered to watch them. One of the stunts was a sham aerial battle between the American and the Frenchman.

Dublin, April 2 (A.P.).—The German plane Bremen made a trial flight at Baldonnel Aldrome this afternoon, with Col. James Fitzmaurice, head of the Irish Free State air force, as assistant pilot.

While Col. Fitzmaurice and the Baldonnel authorities deny he will replace Arthur Spindler as copilot with Capt.
Hermann Koehl on the Bremen's transatlantic flight, the nature of today's trial, coupled with the departure of Spindler from Dublin, strengthened a belief that there has been a hitch in the plans of Baron von Huenefeld, sponsor of the project.
Baron von Huenefeld was a passenger today in the monoplane, while Capt.
Koehl and Col. Fitzmaurice handled the machine's dual controls.
The expedition continues to await favorable weather.

Queen Mary's Nephew Hurt in Motor Crash

Belleville, Sur Saone, France, April 2
(A.P.).—Viscount Trematon, heir of the Earl of Athlone and a nephew of Queen
Mary of England, was injured seriously and one of his companions was killed in a motor accident near here Sunday afternoon.

The viscount was driving the car, accompanied by Kenneth Madocks and John Couran, fellow students with him at Cambridge University. The machine crashed into a tree. Madocks' skull was fractured and he died within a few hours. Couran escaped with scratches. The viscount was taken to a hospital and it was said there tonight that his condition was satisfactory.
The physicians have allowed him to take some nourishment and to smoke
a cigarette.

N. & W. Reports 1927 Second Best Year

Roahe, Va., April 2 (A.P.).—Despite a noticeable slump in business which set in in October and continued through the last quarter, 1927 was the second best year in the history of the Norfolk & Western Railway Co. It is shown in the annual report released by its officers.

Net earnings of the Norfolk & Western last year were only $6,152,892.72 less than in the peak year of 1926. Operating revenues last year were $16,100, 986.205.64 and the net income was $30,- 651,295.49, as compared with $120,409,- 038.37 and $36,804,188.21 in 1926.

There was a decrease in the gross operating revenues of $9,460,837.73. The large earnings last year, despite an appreciable drop in operating revenues, is due largely to increases of $245,372.40 and $651,148.94 for equipment and joint facility rents and other incomes, respectively, and decreases of $1,530,- 788.55 in operating expenses, $729,991.63 in taxes and uncollectible revenue and $97,158.49 in interest charges.

PURCHASE OF SINCLAIR TRACK STOCK IS DENIED

Oil Man Did Not Own Any Shares in Maryland, It Is Said Officially.

PHILADELPHIAN "BUYER"

Baltimore, April 2 (A.P.).—Officials of the Maryland Racing Commission took exception to the claim of James Irvin, Philadelphia contractor and politician, who announced today that he had taken title to Harry F. Sinclair's stock in Maryland race tracks, when they disclosed tonight that the oil magnate was not a stockholder in State turf interests.

James F. Hayward, secretary of the commission, said there is no record with the commission that Sinclair, whose horses recently were barred from Maryland tracks because of his connection with Teapot Dome, ever had owned any stock in Bowie, Havre de Grace, Laurel or Pimlico tracks.

Mr. Hayward explained that a filed record was kept of all stockholders of Maryland turf interests and that Sinclair's name does not appear on the list.

Philadelphia, April 2 (A.P.).—In denying today that he had purchased the horses owned by Harry F. Sinclair, whose entries have been barred from
the Maryland tracks, James Irvin, Republican ward leader and contractor of this city, explained that he meant he had taken title to Sinclair's stock in several Maryland race tracks.
Last night Irvin admitted that he had purchased the oil man's stock and this was interpreted in several published reports that he meant Sinclair's horses in his Rancocas stables near Jobstown, N. J.

Irvin said that he was associated with another Philadelphia in the purchase whose name he would not reveal. Irvin also declined to name the amount of stock taken over from the oil man.

He said the purchase of the Sinclair stock was not to be taken as an indication that the oil man was planning the sale of his stables, as the Rancocas horses may still race on all tracks except those in Maryland.

SMYRNA IS TERRIFIED BY ADDITIONAL QUAKE

Geysers in Gulf Spread More Panic; Residents Camping
in Nearby Hills.

Constantinople, April 2 (A.P.).—Another series of earthquake shocks struck the historic city of Smyrna this morning, increasing the terror of the population which was barely recovering from an earthquake Saturday which caused heavy loss of life.

The first shock today, a slight one,
was felt at 6 a. m. and this was followed by a succession of light shocks which sent the boldest who had returned to their houses fleeing to the hills again.

The appearance of geysers in the Gulf of Smyrna added to terrifying phenomena which had marked the preceding quake and spread further panic among the population which is camping in the fields and hills.

Latest reports placed the dead at 40 and the injured at 138. A total of 1,970 buildings have been destroyed, and the damage is estimated at $2,000,- 000.

Faenza, Italy, April 2 (A.P.).—New and extremely violent earthquake shocks are imminent, especially in southeastern Asia and the southern European-Mediterranean district, Ra-phael Bendandi, seismologist, said today.

He predicted a big disturbance for Wednesday and a repetition on the night of April 9 to April 10.

He forecast lighter tremors in northwestern Mexico and the Kamchatka Peninsula, Siberia, and even slight volcanic activity in the Andes.

STOCKS HIGHLY NERVOUS WITH RADIO AGAIN PIVOT

Trading Falls Below 3,500-
1,000-Share Mark—General
Motors "Jumpy."

U. S. STEEL MOVES OFF

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, April 2.—The new month in the stock market entered much as a bird-setting March went out—with an eclipse crescendo, in part out of trading volume and scope of price swings, but with no little diminution in values virtually all along the line.

Marking up of the call money rate to 5½ per cent, the year's previous high record, was the outstanding feature of the day from a stock market viewpoint. Loans had been arranged for some $20,000,000 of money by banks brought a much firmer demand in the market and resulted in the charge in the early afternoon.

Stocks, however, displayed a highly nervous temperament from the outset. The heavy run of selling which carried the ticker along for almost an hour left its impression on the market and with large, with the result that traders generally were somewhat less enthusiastic than recently.

After three consecutive 4,000,000-share turnovers in the final three full sessions of last week, the volume of transactions showed considerable shrinkage, but continued to be a market falling not far short of the 3,500,000-share mark.

The market shifted about uncertainly most of the day changing its course in direction frequently, but tended to er for the most part, and net appreciations were few and widely scattered at the close, while net losses ranging from one point to two 6½ points were freely distributed over the active list.

Radio continued to be the center of the speculative limelight and stood as the pivot around which the general market revolved, with its swings equally as erratic as those of last week when the wild bull market, extending over nearly the entire month, came rather unexpectedly to a halt. At one time Radio, after a demonstration which carried it up more than 100 points to 196½, and subsequently moved over a narrower range, closing 9½ points under the new top, but a point up on the day at 187.

This was largely typical of the market as a whole, although it was about the only leader in activity to finish on the up side.

General Motors was slightly more active than Radio, with a turnover of 168,000 shares, against 170,000 for the speculative leader, but backed and filled jumpy all day and finished 3½ lower. United States Steel, on the other hand, dealings totaled but 30,000 shares, most of the session and finished 2½ points down.

Motor shares generally were less responsive than might have been expected to the favorable showing of March production figures of many companies. Mack Trucks slipped 1½ points, and points above Saturday's close, but fell off in the late session to finish a minor fraction net lower. Hupp, Hudson, Chrysler, Packard and other new cars, which carried it up more than 100 points to 196½, and subsequently moved over a narrower range, closing 9½ points under the new top, but a point up on the day at 187.

A number of selected stocks were plotted along to new record levels, but on the whole, were under more or less constant pressure throughout the day and gains, where they occurred, were held in part in only a few instances. Broadly, the market had a rather top-heavy appearance.

Oil shares showed more consistent firmness than any other group. They were fairly buoyant in the afternoon, with General Asphalt, the Atlantic Refining, habitually the fastest movers, leading the list. Higher gasoline consumption in February, the prospect for the largest sales for the year, and the oil companies have ever known, and the failure of any new fresh production pools to appear so far have encouraged oil stock traders. The new oil has been more thoroughly liquidated than any other class of stocks.

General Asphalt common got up to within a small fraction of its previous 1928 peak price, but yielded three points of this to close only a point net higher. The preferred sold 8½ points higher and held all its advance. Atlantic Refining, at one stage 5½ points up, finished with a net gain of 2 points. Pan-American Western held 2½ of its advance. Houston was the star performer, however, going into new high ground at 181½ on large dealings and holding at the top for a net gain of 1½ points.

The rails did little aside from Texas & Pacific, which at one time nearly 5 points up, closed 1½ points above last week's closing level.

Such recent favorites as American Can, International Nickel, General Electric, and the leading copper, showed moderate net losses on the day. In the foreign exchange market sterling was unchanged, the French franc was up an eighth and Swedish, Norwegian and Dutch a point, and other continental currencies were firm. Spanish pesetas, however, dropped 3 points and Chinese exchanges were weak, with Hongkong declining 15 points and Shanghai 25 points. The Uruguayan peso advanced 25 points further, Canadian eased off 2 points.

BOND MARKET QUOTER;
TREND OF PRICES FIRMSemi-Speculative Issues in Good Demand; Coppers are "Mixed."

GOVERNMENT LIST EASY

New York, April 2 (A.P.)—The bond market was quiet today, but prices at any time in a week or more, but prices in the main continued to follow a firm trend. Time money rates were unchanged, but competition offered the listed market by approximately $80,000,000 in new issues. Competition induced many traders to limit their commitments temporarily.

As in other recent sessions, much of the buying was concentrated in semi-speculative issues and some high-grade rails and public utilities. Copper bonds showed contrasting movements. American 7s moving up to a new peak at 117 1/2, while Andes 7s dropped back more than a point. The new St. Paul issues hesitated after a break beginning the adjustment 5s dropping back a fraction on large sales.

General Asphalt 6s climbed 3/4 points in sympathy with the common and preferred stocks and Liquid Carbonic 6s added another point to their recent gains. Low's 6s (with warrants) reached 119 for the first time this year following a point advance.

Chesapeake Corporation 6s again reached par, their high level, and a few of the New Haven issues were firm. Bangor & Arroostook 4s moved up a point in new peak territory.

Duquesne 6s, which have been consistent ground gainers last week, reached 104, a new top, and a few other light and power issues were in demand. New York traction bonds responded to the movement by the city to recapture the Interborough system, but some of the gains were subsequently lost.

Attention in the foreign group was directed largely to municipal issues new highs for the year being attained by bonds of Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro, Tokyo and Yokohama.

United States Government obligations were easy on a small amount of offerings.

The Monkey Tribe
II. DIANA MONKEYS AND
"HOLY APES"

THE Diana monkey of western Africa has a long tail. Its black face is adorned by a white beard. Both males and females have this beard.

A "horned monkey." Although the tail of the Diana monkey is longer than the body, it is not of a great deal of use. Possibly it serves as a balance when the animal is leaping, but it has no power to hold a limb. No monkey in Africa or Asia can use its tail for grasping. That trick, as I remarked yesterday, can be performed only by monkeys of America.

Diana monkeys live in groups—we may even say "tribes." Their lives are largely spent in trees. They eat insects, birds' eggs and, sometimes young birds. Among the monkeys of India are those known as "holy apes," though they are not apes in the true sense of the word. They are experts at jumping, and may leap as much as 30 feet, from the top of one tall tree to a lower limb of another. In spite of the force of their leaps, they are able to clutch the limbs they aim for.

Some of the natives of India regard these monkeys as sacred. No believer in the old religious lore will kill one of them. For this reason, the "holy apes" become tame. They help themselves to growing vegetables, and are a nuisance in general.

Now and then a band of "holy apes" will pay a visit to a town and take some exercise on the roofs of buildings. When they grow hungry, they visit the shops. The shopkeepers do not dare to kill them, so "a good time is enjoyed by all." The monkeys are "vegetarians" and will not eat insects, birds or any kind of meat, but they make short work of grain and fruit.

The "horned monkey" is another interesting member of the monkey tribe. Of course he does not have real horns, but there are little tufts of hair on top of his head which give him the name.

COMMITTEE NAMED TO FRAME ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR CODE

Representatives of Competing Firms Confer With Officials on Rules.

PROPOSAL BY COVELL IS HELD TOO DRASTIC

Regulations to Be Drawn to Cover Installation of Multiple Systems.

Competitors in the electric refrigeration business met at a public hearing in the District committee yesterday to discuss proposed regulations to govern installation of their devices in apartment buildings and elsewhere. The meeting adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that automatic refrigeration is a desirable household appliance and that when properly installed and maintained can be operated with safety."

Will Frame Code of Rules.

A committee of experts representing four of the companies involved, and a number of District officials were appointed to act as a committee to perfect rules for installation of multiple systems for refrigerators for domestic use; that is, systems with motors and compressors in the basement and refrigerating gas piped therefrom to family refrigerators.

When the code is completed it will be submitted to the Commissioners for promulgation as part of the law of the District.

Some weeks ago representatives of a company that makes only small individual electric refrigerators asked the Commissioners to adopt a regulation forbidding further installation of multiple systems in Washington on the ground that they were dangerous to life.

Committee Is Selected.

The Commissioners referred the matter to Maj. W. E. R. Covell, assistant to the Engineer Commissioner, who, with A. R. McGonagall, plumbing inspector, prepared a code and called yesterday's hearing.

Covell said that it was not the intention to ban multiple refrigerator systems, but he soon was convinced that his code was too drastic and sweeping. The committee appointed to rewrite it consisted of L. S. Keith, C. C. Spreen, E. T. Williams, J. J. Donovan, L. V. Seib, fire marshal; Walter E. Kern, assistant electrical engineer; Maj. Covell, McGonagall and R. J. Lusk, representing the Operative Builders Association.

Quick Remarriage

Sustained in Court

The Court of Appeals yesterday refused to allow a little husband the part of a woman in remarrying to invalidate her second marriage.

The plaintiff in this case was Mrs. Louise A. Tillman, whose second husband, George S. Tillman, successfully challenged the validity of their marriage of April 3, 1926, in the lower court on the ground that she had not waited the required twenty days after the signing of the final decree which awarded her first husband, Clement E. Murphy, an annulment. Murphy's decree was signed March 22, 1926. The twenty days are provided by the code in case the party entitled to an appeal decided to appeal. In the Murphy case the then Mrs. Murphy was the only person who could appeal, and she remarried.

G. F. Williams Made Auditor of Court

George Francis Williams, a practicing attorney of this city, was sworn in yesterday as auditor of the District Supreme Court to succeed Herbert L. Davis, resigned. The oath was administered by Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy while the court sat in general term. Many members of the class of 1886 of the Washington High School were present. Mr. Williams was president of the class.

Congratulatory speeches were made by Fulton Lewis and Charles H. Bates. Among those of the high school class present were, besides Mr. Lewis and Mr. Bates, Allan Davis, principal of the Business High School, who is now president of the class, and Gen. William E. Norton, U. S. A., Col. Henry C. Fisher, U. S. A., Mrs. Charles H. Butler, John S. Torbert and others.

BEHIND THE SCREENS

With NELSON B. BELL

A king in confidential mood, perhaps while the cat is looking at him, will admit that his idea of a good time is to go for a street car ride. A presidential candidate sometimes is exposed by the news camera man as a citizen of simple tastes who would rather pitch hay or drive a plow than come to the White House. The screen celebrity, by the same token, likes nothing better than to play the humble part of an extra in somebody else's picture—so long as it is just a lark, of course, and not a suddenly enforced change of status in the eyes of the casting director.

Charlie Murray and Ben Lyon were among the extras in a hotel lobby scene with Colleen Moore in "Her Wild Cat," shown at the Earle, and Jack Pickford, Mary's brother, also walked through the lobby. Mary Pickford herself, you may have noticed at the Columbia, assumed the brief role of the Madonna in the shrine scene in Douglas Fairbanks' "The Gaucho" and only recently Charlie Chaplin received $5—largely as a joke—for wearing an overcoat and looking unimportant in the first scene of Norma Talmadge's next picture, not yet released.

Wilson Mizner, Broadway wit and playwright, relieved the monotony of a high-salaried screen-writing job by turning extra for a day and playing one of the miscellaneous gentlemen in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." And young Charlie Rogers, still very new as a star, already has found time to amuse himself playing extra in a Chester Conklin comedy.

All of which is merely by way of leading up to the fact that "them as give" at the ancient domicile remarked in Edward Eggleston's "The Hoosier Schoolmaster." The next time you are on the coast try and squeeze your way past the guard at the studio gate and see how precipitately you are hustled away from there.

Just as welcome as the bubonic plague.

The boys doing the weekly specialties on the stages and at the organs of the picture theaters seem to have chosen Holy Week with unaccustomed industry for their better efforts. Leon Navara, master of ceremonies at the Earle, has combined a little of Chopin with a standard melody of slightly less classic quality to form a surprisingly interesting medium for the further demonstration of his exceptional ability at the piano. Here is a lad who obviously, despite his clowning, is endowed with a rare degree of musicianship.

At the Palace, J. R. Hoffman is offering a strangely eloquent proof of his versatility at the triple-manual console of the organ by rendering a potpourri of sacred music, lyrically explained on the screen to serve as means of comparing the church organ of a decade or two ago and the ultra-modern orchestra-unit instruments in use in a majority of our saloons of the present day cinema.

It occurs to me that regardless of the enthusiasm of the moment and the applause that greets these young artists at their de luxe performances, their efforts are not wholly appreciated by the real music lovers of the Capital, whose work reflects a high measure of thoughtful preparation and should be held in higher esteem than it is.

Or perhaps I have mistakenly underestimated the regard in which they are held by that so dear public. I hope so.

This department has from time to time commented briefly upon the multiplicity of problems confronting those in the country who occupy themselves in the production, distribution and exhibition of motion pictures. The side of the question upon which we have not touched is the foreign title, as aside from the necessity of altering titles that are unintelligible to any but American audiences.

The statement was recently made by the president of an educational institution in China that the American motion picture being imported into that country gave every promise of vitiating the value of missionary work built up during a period of approximately 75 years. It was contended that the insight which the screen was affording native audiences into many of the less desirable aspects of life in this country was exercising a decidedly demoralizing influence. The final decision in that far-away controversy, however, seems to be that living conditions at their worst here are so much better than many Chinese ever have experienced that the pictures are, in fact, awakening a sturdy ambition for the better things the screen has revealed to a previously contented race. The discussion, nevertheless, has occasioned American producers a few unhappy moments.

Not so unhappy, however, nor so many, as have resulted from conditions in Europe. A peculiar anomaly exists here, France, England, Germany, Italy, all of the leaders across the Atlantic, admit candidly enough that our pictures are so much better than their own that competition is virtually smothered before it starts. So our superior product is made the subject of ban, belligerence and boycott—not by those names, but in effect.

That is one of the reasons of Will H. Hays' presence in Europe at this time. Perhaps he will be able to do something about it.

Celebrated Comedian, Fred Stone, Comes to Town With Dorothy as Team Mate.

CLEVER DANCING CHORUS

With Dorothy Stone as Holly Day and Fred Stone as Christopher Cross.

Some two seasons have gone by the boards since Fred Stone and his charming daughter, Dorothy, graced the stage at the National. They came back last night in a musical comedy concoction, "Criss Cross," not anything overbrilliant as music and comedy go, but sufficient unto the Stones. Father and daughter are doing well.

Occasionally comes a flash of the old Fred Stone—the Fred Stone who danced his way into the hearts of the theatergoers years and years ago, when his partner was Dave Montgomery, and when they played such favorites as the Tin Man and the Straw Man in "The Wizard of Oz." When these rare bits revive, as they do, there is joy in the hearts of old-timers. So that the new school of theatergoers may have something to cling to, young Dorothy steps out and emulates the example of her illustrious father—and all hands are happy.

A rambling story, this "Criss Cross," having to do with the fortunes of a young girl in a French school, placed there by a rich uncle, a man from Algeria. That gives motive for a shifting of scenes, so that the versatile Fred may appear this moment as an aviator, the next as an Italian music teacher again as a harem dancer, and what-not—with Miss Dorothy ambling along.

There are two or three songs that stand out, a trio of singers—Lucy Monroe, Oscar Ragland and John Lambert, a novelty or two, such as some Arabian acrobatics, and as fine an assemblage of Tiller girls as ever stood, or danced, before the footlights.

The fine artistic hand of R. H. Burnside, who once conceived all the magnificent scenic spectacles at the old Hippodrome, is seen in the production, with plenty of trick entrances and exits for the daddy of Dorothy.

Random what it is, and Fred Stone being the American stage, what Walter Johnson is to the baseball world, "Criss Cross" is just another vehicle to ride by.

JOHN J. DALY.

KEITH'S

Swinging into its second week of the newer and more popular schedule, Keith's local house is presenting this week a varied bill that bids to compare favorably with anything on the local amusement horizon.

The headline on the vaudeville portion of the bill is the Rooney-Clintor team of melody-making dancers and tunesmiths, in an offering of some merit. The attraction boasts a versatile orchestra—an agreeable leader—and the sister of Pat Rooney who gives her bit to hold up the traditions of the family.

Little Marion Sunshine, of the abbreviated skirt, is back again on the local boards with her old stand-by "Just a Chorus Girl." The skit holds down the spot assigned the added attraction, in a becoming manner, and Mr. Bob LeRoy gives his best to further enhance the value of the affair.

An aristocrat-wise-cracker is Mr. George Beatty, who holds down the device spot with a single. The presentation calls for a varied amount of comedy—rapid fire humor—and the affairs of a master of ceremonies; in each item the gentleman satisfies.

The ancient and honorable variety institution—An Etching From Life—is making the rounds again, featuring Claire Vincent, Frank Gardner and Betty Lee Carter. The Etching is a playlet that forms a happy medium for an outlet of a bit of emotion over the two-a-day.

Al Lydell and Bobby Higgins prove themselves in a comedy playlet, "A Friend of Father's." They are assisted in the effort by Lida Leah. Howard's Spectacle, a dog and pony act, opens the bill.

The picture end of the entertainment is headed by "Freckles," a melodramatic story by the late Gene Stratton-Porter. "Freckles" is the tale of a waif who grows into manhood with the idea that the world is against him. Given his chance, as a ranger in a great forest, he makes good—against terrific odds—wins the girl of his heart and is made comparatively happy.

The bill is framed by Pathe News. Aesop's Fables, the organ selection of Miss Irene Juno, and the orchestral endeavors of Freddie Clarke who, in the pale glow of a spot-light (movie flashlight) whips out the soft, sweet strains of hits from "My Maryland" in a most orthodox manner.
